U. S. Public Health Service Reports 12,926 Cases of Polio in 1945

The Thirteenth Annual Infantile Paralysis appeal for funds begins January 14 and ends January 31. Bill Cunningham of Newton is State chairman of this national effort to prevent a dread disease and to provide the best possible treatment for those recovering from its effects.

Thomas V. Cleveland will again serve as Newton chairman, assisting him will be Mrs. Edgar P. Hay and Mrs. J. Earle Parker, co-chairmen of the Women's Division and the leaders and workers of last year's campaign, which raised some $5800 as Newton's contribution to the total of $52,705 raised in Middlesex County.

Harold A. Wooster, librarian of the Newton Free Library, will be in charge of information and publicity. William J. Payne, vice president, Newton National Bank, is treasurer of the Newton campaign.

One-half of all funds raised are sent to the National Foundation in New York and expended for research and study, and as a reserve to combat the disease whenever it may appear. Much progress has been made, through this cooperative effort, and recoveries are being made which a few years ago would have been impossible.

The U. S. Public Health Service reported a total of 12,926 cases of infantile paralysis this year, through November 17, with 3289 new cases reported nationwide from September 30 through November 17.

One-half of the funds raised are spent locally. The office of the Middlesex County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis is located at 4 Brattle street, Cambridge, and Mrs. Jeanne F. Elliott is Field Secretary. Last year there were fifty.

Petition to Extend Business Zone in Newton Centre

Several petitions have been filed at Newton City Hall by property owners of Newton Centre requesting the extension of the business district on Beacon street.

The petitioners ask that the properties, adjacent to the Newton Centre Baptist Church property on one side of the street, and adjacent to the present business district on the other, be changed from their present classification as private residence zone to business zone.

One of the petitions is headed by the signature of Dr. George R. Baxter, 851 Beacon street, whose property is adjacent to the present business district.

The petitions were filed too late to receive consideration this year, but will be considered by the 1946 Board of Aldermen and hearings will be assigned next year.

Will The Public Pay?

In a competitive economic system such as ours—and where in the world is there a better one?—the only thing that really determines wages is what the public will pay for what any worker produces.

No amount of vote-snaring oratory or legislative sleight-of-hand can change that truth. Pay depends upon production, whether on the farm, in the corner grocery, or in the factory.

That does not mean that wages cannot go up in our factories. If by working harder or using better methods, output can be increased, then pay can likewise be increased.

But there is no way in the world to justify higher pay for less output. Certainly the only way that industry could pay more wages for less work would be to raise prices, and that would benefit no one.

Massachusetts SPCA Urges All to Remember the Birds

Eric H. Hansen, President of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, 180 Longwood Avenue, Boston, yesterday appealed to bird-lovers everywhere to help their feathered friends survive the extreme cold weather by putting out food for them. During the bitter cold days, particularly when the ground is covered with snow and ice, it is highly desirable that grain, bread crumbs, corn meal, etc., be spread where birds can reach them, thus eliminating the possibility of suffering which might result through lack of their natural diet. "The most satisfactory method of putting out food for them," stated the Society head, "is to place it on a large board with a molding around the edge. In this way it is not scattered or lost."

"We cannot urge too strongly," concluded Mr. Hansen, "that everyone remember the birds, so that when spring arrives, these attractive creatures will be with us once again with their beauty and song."

And then there was the Scot whose wife had to have her tonsils taken out two weeks after they were married and he sent the bill to her father because she should have had them out years ago!

Politics With Color

(The opinions expressed in this column are the writer's own and do not necessarily reflect the views or policy of this newspaper.—Editor's Note.)

Our City Government

As one prominent Alderman phrased it, the inauguration ceremonies on New Year's day were a "nice little gathering." In other words, the customary hundred odd people showed up to see our City officials sworn in, hear Mayor Goddard's fourth inaugural address and witness the election of new officers of the Board of Aldermen. (See news column for details.)

Why the slim attendance practically every year, save when a new Mayor is sworn in? Is it because New Year's day is the "morning after" or is it because people just won't leave their homes on the first day of the year? Is it, possibly, as one Alderman suggested to me, that there is not always a great deal of publicity prior to the inauguration? This same Alderman, incidentally, had failed to note our front page story on Dec. 27. Perhaps it is because the proceedings are not very exciting and follow the same routine year after year. After all, those who are especially interested can find out who the new officers are, provided that there are any changes, a day or two before the ceremonies.

Now, I have two suggestions to offer. First, would it be possible to change the date or, if not, to change the hour of the inauguration? Secondly, would it not help if all the members of the Board made a special effort to publicize the event a week or more before-hand in their own districts? General publicity is never effective as direct, personal publicity given by those who should be most interested in building up the affair.

The Mayor surprised some people by referring quite frankly to the debate in our Street Department. He assured those present that steps had been taken to make certain that the city will be spared similar embarrassment in the future. Then, of course, he explained, chapter and verse, the story behind the story on snow removal. In this connection, we all remember with much appreciation, the splendid work of the Street Department under the current leadership of Harold F. Young, immediately following the heavy storm of Dec. 19. Another important point made was with reference to taxes. Altho' no direct statement was made about the exact tax-rate, the implication seemed to be that the rate may go up a bit in the near future.

My congratulations to President Joseph B. Jamieson, re-elected to his present post, and to Alderman Wendell R. Bauckman, the new Vice-President of the Board, succeeding former Alderman Albert P. Everts. These two men should make a fine team.

Weekly Quiz

This week I am devoting more space to the weekly quiz and also placing it nearer the head of my column. This is partly because it was omitted last week, but primarily because it occurred to me that my readers might be inter-

Squadron of C.A.P. Pilots Organized

A wing headquarters squadron of Civil Air Patrol pilots qualified to fly Army planes on special missions has been organized by Capt. Harry J. Standing, Jr., of Newton, executive officer of the Massachusetts CAP wing.

The pilots have been checked out on Boeing PT-17s turned over to CAP by the Army Air Forces for indoctrination of CAP cadets, and for emergency missions. The planes are based at East Boston and Mansfield.

Among those in the new squadron is Maj. Frank F. Hennessy of Newton.

ested in being reminded of a few important details in connection with the living ex-members of our Great and General Court, commonly called the State Legislature.

To the best of my knowledge, the only living former State Senators are the Hon. Thomas Weston, who also served in the House of Representatives prior to his term in the Senate, and then became a Judge in our District Court, and our old friend, Arthur W. Hollis, who served a longer period in the State Senate than any other Newtonian in history.

Heading the list of former State Representatives is, of course, Junior United States Senator from Massachusetts, Leverett Saltonstall, whose first elective office was the Board of Aldermen. Incidentally, I shall not attempt to name ALL those who also served on our Board, altho' both Thomas Weston and Arthur W. Hollis made their bow politically on the Board.

Going back about three decades we come to a personal friend of long standing, former Mayor Henry E. Botfield, a member of that famous legislative team, Botfield, Ellis and White. Your columnist had the temerity to run as a Bull Moose candidate for the Legislature in opposition to this distinguished group in 1913. Curiously enough, he came within a few hundred votes of securing an election. A few years later, this team broke up. The late George H. Ellis, one of our most beloved public servants, went up to the State Senate and Thomas W. White, until a short time ago the key Secretary to Henry Cabot Lodge, assumed an important state position, past and present, mixed in. I believe, with an important federal post. For plain political "know-how," there is nobody in Newton and probably nobody in Massachusetts who is Tom White's superior and few, if any, who are his equal. He, too, was once an Alderman.

I recall playing tennis in the White Mountains with Mr. Botfield during the summer months. He was no youngster then, but he played a very fast game and was a grand sportsman. Happy New Year to you, Sir, and to all this group of veterans.

A special salute to another seasoned veteran, William B. Baker, head of our local Ration Board during the trying war years and before that very influential Alderman and for many years a powerful member of the State Legislature, where he served as Assistant Chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee. At this point, we pay tribute to another good friend, Warren K. Brimblecom, who has the distinction of having held both positions filled by his father before him, namely, publisher of the Newton Graphic and member of the House of Representatives. The son served a much longer term in the House than the father, the late John C. Brimblecom, widely known for his courage and independence.

Rupert C. Thompson, Secretary of our local Chamber of Commerce, is another former member of the House of Representatives. He was in the House just before Warren K. Brimblecom. Next we have our present City Treasurer, who was a most useful Alderman for many years and then served only two years in the House, due to the fact that the City post demanded most of his time.

Lastly, we have the two members of the AMG, Lt.-Col. Loomis Patrick and Major Douglas B. Francis, who have brought great honor to Newton in the Pacific and the European theatres respectively. Rep. John W. Whittemore and Rep. Henderson Inches are currently serving as military substitutes for these two fine men. Our other two Representatives, Mrs. Margaret Spear, the only woman ever to be elected from Newton and Rep. George E. Ray, son of Newton round out my list of living members of the Great and General Court.

This week's question is: Name those Newton residents, if any, who are now serving on the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts or on the Superior Court.

Boudrot Defends Snow Removal Record

The following statement has been made by Clifford T. Boudrot, President of the City Employees Union, Local 800, A. F. of L., in which he defends the snow removal record of the Street Department and asks that car owners cooperate by not parking their cars on the public highway.

"Mayor Paul M. Goddard and Acting Street Commissioner Harold F. Young were bombarded with complaints of every description because of the road conditions in the first storm. After the second storm, the mayor and commissioner and the street fighting troops were highly praised for their efficiency and dispatch in handling of the storm. The same can be said of the third heavy storm, but with no thanks to the incalculable car owners."

Now it is the city employee's turn to register his objections to the taxpayers and voters, who love to park their cars on the streets, and particularly those who live in homes bordering two streets and park their cars on the corners, making it impossible for the truck drivers to blow around the intersections and open the streets for fire, sickness and accident protection. This also applies to people who live on dead end streets.

"So please, Mr. Car Owner, park your car in your driveway just long enough to allow the plow trucks to plow all of your streets after all the storms."

Mr. Boudrot reminded car owners that habitual offenders will be dealt with by Newton police.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

A FRIENDLY CHAT WITH OUR RESPECTFUL CITIZENS

It is said, a wise discussion of important matters at the proper time always brings good results, so it seems to me our important question for today should be comfortable homes and steady jobs for our service men and women.

The ruthless war is over and our boys and girls are coming home, but most of them have no home or proper shelter so they can have a family reunion. What are we going to do for them? What are we going to offer to our gallant heroes who, after long years of bloody battles, weary and home-sick, are returning home hoping for a peaceful rest with their dear ones? They are looking forward to their future comfort and happiness, which they were expecting from us as a reward for their great sacrifices and gallant victory. We cannot even assure them a proper job with decent salary.

If we cannot tell them that they are welcome home when most of them have no proper home to live in? Can we satisfy them with a few windy welcome home speeches, noisy ceremonies and colorful signs and decorations? Would this fulfill our patriotic duty to say they are welcome home but not give them a place to live in our desirable City of Newton? Can we excuse ourselves sufficiently by telling them that on account of shortage of building materials and skillful hands we failed to build the homes they need?

If we cannot build new homes at present with all their modern improvements for our service men, at least we have hundreds of well built old estates that are vacant now or partially occupied and easily can be converted into comfortable living quarters for them with small expense and few materials.

Why should a few selfish citizens enjoy all alone the most beautiful part of our garden city while our gallant boys and their families are crowded into undesirable sections and forced to move away into far locations? What good would these big homes bring our city and citizens if we cannot give the full benefit of them now when we need to keep our young generation with us? Why cannot the citizens of Newton demand a revocation of the old zoning laws so that patriotic owners can remodel them to make rooms for more families? Let us keep important and necessary restrictions but also let us use common sense and make the adjustments that will meet the present home shortage emergency so Newton can truly say to her gallant heroes, Welcome Home—Our Heroes! Humble Citizen

The Highland Glee Club added greatly to the pleasure of Christmas Day with its tour of the city, stopping at various points to sing Christmas carols. The party numbered 28 and were under the direction of the new leader, Mr. A. Vincent Bennett, and were accompanied by a quartet of horns, led by Mr. Ralph McLellan.

One of the most constructive innovations introduced into the West Newton Post Office during the recent Christmas rush is the subject of complimentary remarks from every carrier attached to the office. The change consisted of sending out bags of mail ahead of each carrier which were so distributed as to allow a carrier to start out with a normal load, get rid of it and pick up another load at frequent intervals on his trip.

"Gifts in Tin" for Overseas Service Men

Newton Red Cross is conducting two additional meetings for the purpose of helping Newton women to pack food in tin containers to be sent to service men and women overseas. These will be held at the Chapter House, 21 Foster street, Newtonville, on January 9 and January 18 from one to three in the afternoon.

Dry foods—such as cookies, candy, cake, nuts and peanut butter should be brought into the Chapter House—and tins and sealing equipment will be furnished at a small charge of 5¢ per can. If cookies are to be sent, they should be small in size or, better still, be brought uncut in the pan, so that they can be cut to fit the can exactly.

It is requested that women planning to take advantage of this opportunity telephone the Red Cross at Lasell 6000 and state the number of cans desired.

B. The course will continue three evenings each week, Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 7-10, for eight weeks.

A practice period on Saturday afternoon, or Sunday morning is required during the course. After completion of the training, 150 hours of duty a year and one weekend a month, Saturday or Sunday, must be given.

A personal interview is desirable at the Newton Red Cross Chapter House, 21 Foster street, Newtonville, Tuesday or Thursday evening from 7-9, or by special appointment.

Full information will be furnished by calling Lasell 6000.

January 31 THE LAST DAY FOR MEN NOW IN THE ARMY TO RETAIN THEIR PRESENT GRADES BY REENLISTING...

Men now in the Army who reenlist before February 1 will be reenlisted in their present grade. Men honorably discharged can reenlist within 20 days after discharge in the grade they held at the time of discharge, provided they reenlist before February 1, 1946.

There's a long list of attractive reenlistment privileges in the new Armed Forces Voluntary Recruitment Act of 1945. The ability to keep your present grade is only one of them, but this privilege expires on January 31.

There are plenty of other reasons why many thousands of men have enlisted, and more thousands are enlisting every day. You'll certainly want to know all of the opportunities open to you. If you'll read them carefully, you'll know why a job in the new peacetime Regular Army is being regarded today as "The Best Job in the World."

In addition to his inaugural address Mayor Goddard referred to matters concerning the Street Department, stating:

"About two months ago your City Government discovered certain irregularities in the street department, and it is too early to make a complete report on this situation. Immediate action was taken, and a complete investigation is now being conducted. This investigation is being carried on at our request, by the District Attorney's office, the auditors of the Massachusetts Division of Accounts, and our own city officials. It is believed that under such auspices a complete and thorough probe will result, for all of these agencies are working with the utmost cooperation and helpfulness.

"Let us not make the mistake of either magnifying or minimizing this occurrence. The moral and ethical standards of this community, including our City Government, are such that irregularities and breaches of public duty cannot take root. On the other hand, there are very serious implications in the facts already disclosed, for it has been demonstrated how easily the trust placed in public officials may be abused. We have already instituted new procedures, which with added safeguards in the future, will help to prevent recurrence of such a situation, so far as is humanly possible."

The Mayor's inaugural address was as follows:

Gentlemen of the Board of Aldermen:

We look forward this year with thankful appreciation to a future of peace. Brave men who might have contributed much to the progress of mankind have given their lives that the blessings of peace between the nations of the earth might be ours in 1946, and we hope for all the years to come. May we never forget the sacrifices made for us, fully realizing that because of them we are still free citizens in a Country dedicated to universal peace and good will. It becomes our solemn obligation to preserve that for which they fought and died, for only in this way can we even partially discharge our indebtedness to them.

The year 1946 will probably be the most important one in our transition from war to peace. Reconversion became a byword almost immediately after the close of the war, applying of course principally to business and industry. But it is true also that we are facing reconversion in the field of government. Many of the factors which made it difficult to sustain our domestic economy operated in the same way at all levels of government. We have consequently all looked forward to this time, but have learned, however, in a few short months, that actual reconversion to a peace time basis is certain to encounter difficulties and that there will be many problems which cannot be solved as quickly as we would wish. War may accomplish its immediate objective, but its aftermath may last for generations.

Local government in this country functioned well during the war. A more comprehensive statement would be that local communities functioned well, government being one of the many agencies and implements of the war effort. It is true that many of the services of local government, especially those pertaining to the physical comfort and convenience of our citizens did suffer, but these will be improved as time goes on just as they will be in industry, transportation and other activities. We may all be proud of Newton's achievements during the last few years, and of its contribution to the war effort. This fact is again repeated here that it may forever be a part of the public record. We express our sincere appreciation to all of our citizens who gave so freely of the time and effort, and who volunteered so willingly to all the calls made upon them.

At this time of year we very appropriately pause to take account of our assets and liabilities and attempt to make some appraisal of the future. For the last few years our municipalities, of necessity, have been curtailed and limited in their operations. This has enabled most of them to improve their financial condition, and consequently our cities should be in a better position to undertake the necessary public works in the years immediately ahead, and to meet the increased costs of operation. In this connection it should be pointed out that the long term trend of operating costs of city government is upward. As long as our citizens demand more services it must certainly follow that they must be paid for. We are now paying in Newton over $500,000 more in salaries and wages annually than we did six years ago. Practically all of this is accounted for by increases to those already in the employ of the City, rather than by any increase in personnel. All of our cities have postponed capital expenditures during the war, and this slack will have to be taken up in the years ahead. Because of these factors and others which will not be recited in detail on this occasion, we must definitely plan upon an increased cost of municipal administration in the future. If higher tax rates are necessary to properly meet all current expenditures, such rates will be recommended. The prediction can safely be made that all of our cities and towns will have a more difficult time financially in the next year or two. On the other hand Newton may expect its full share of increased building, whenever construction can really get started. This will probably steadily increase real estate valuations for at least a ten-year period. The added revenue resulting from these valuations will be of material assistance in spite of the expected increase in expenditures.

The year 1945 was perhaps the most unusual year in a generation in the demands made upon municipalities for snow removal. The storms of last February, November and December were among the heaviest on record, and had to be fought with our own equipment and that of private contractors very much run down as a result of the war. Routine storms can still be taken care of reasonably well under present conditions, but additional heavy equipment will be necessary for the extraordinarily heavy storms. We expect that we shall soon be able to purchase this new equipment. One new snow loader has already been delivered to us, and another is expected soon. A snow plow has been promised for delivery during the month of January. It is interesting to know that last winter city trucks made over one thousand separate deliveries of coal, or coal substitutes, to Newton homes. This had to be done because of the acute fuel shortage at the time, and the peak of the deliveries came at just the time of the severe February storm. Each delivery averaged a little less than one half a ton, but in many instances had to be carried in bags, as the storm had made houses inaccessible to the delivering trucks. This is a good example of a service well rendered by your City Government in an unusual emergency.

During the last six years your City Government has endeavored to improve its financial condition as a necessary preparation for the expenditures which will have to be made during the construction period ahead. On January 1, 1940 the total bonded indebtedness of the City was $6,328,000. In addition there was an outstanding tax title loan of $52,413.98, and an outstanding note of $850,000 in anticipation of taxes. As of today our total bonded indebtedness is $3,852,000. This represents a reduction of $2,476,000 during the six year period.

There are outstanding no tax title loans or notes in anticipation of taxes. In fact last year was the first year, so far as we know, that we have borrowed no money whatever in anticipation of taxes. During 1945, there were only twenty takings of real estate, and in four years our tax title account has been reduced by over 50 per cent in both number and amount. During the six years the City's surplus has been increased and, as of the present date, is over $1,000,000. Taxes have been reduced during this period.

There is a housing shortage in Newton, but fortunately it is not so acute as in many other cities, and it is safe to say that nowhere has a satisfactory solution yet been found. Several agencies are studying the situation, and we hope for results. Temporary houses have been offered under certain conditions by the Federal government, but such a temporary expedient is not deemed advisable for this City. We are doing well in counseling the returning veteran and in giving him moral support, and the Federal and State governments have done even more, but he must find a place to live. It is the Nation's most difficult and pressing problem.

Long range planning is now accepted municipal practice, and we have definite plans for post war construction. In the future we should build new school houses, fire stations, libraries. Recreation facilities should be improved, traffic and parking difficulties alleviated. An intensive study of the problem at Newton Corner is now being made by a Special Committee of the Board of Aldermen, and a definite recommendation will doubtless be made shortly by this Committee. The amount of such construction and the order in which it is to be undertaken will have to be determined as conditions warrant. It must be remembered, however, that the cost of public improvements must be raised by increased taxation upon the people, and it is sometimes made too easy to spend other people's money.

It is a temptation to review at this time all the diversified services rendered by the City. Time does not permit this in detail. In the field of education, public health and safety, recreation, public works, welfare, etc., we serve our citizens faithfully, and for the most part efficiently. It is a privilege to be associated with all the loyal members of our official family, both elected and appointed. A high concept of public duty has always existed here in Newton, and must be continued in our relation to the citizens of this Community. May we never forget for a single instant the sacred obligation which is ours.

Charlotte Whitton has been a welcome and tonic guest at many American Welfare Conferences during the period of more than two decades that she has been active in social work. Her addresses during the past years at the White Houses Conferences, the American Public Welfare Conference, and more recently at the Midwestern Regional Child Welfare Conference and her appearance at the Massachusetts Federation of Women's Clubs in Swampscott in June, 1944, will long be remembered by those who were privileged to hear her on any of those occasions. She not only speaks with the moving appeal which those who are close to the suffering of the world have for us all, but she is clear and courageous in setting out the continuing needs of the welfare services and the responsibilities of a democracy in maintaining the welfare services and the responsibilities of a democracy in maintaining the welfare of the people at home in the first line of defense.

Dr. Whitton is one of the most distinguished of Canadian University Women, a graduate of Queen's University from which she took her M. A. degree. She has been honored with the D. C. L. degree from King's College and the Doctor of Laws from her own Queen's University. She has written many articles on child welfare, and has served as consultant on many committees and on Councils in Canada. She has been editor of Canadian Welfare and Assistant Editor of Social Welfare.

In 1934 she received the decoration of commander of the Order of the British Empire. In 1935, the Jubilee Medal for Public Service from King George V; and in 1937, the Coronation Medal for Public Service from King George VI.

Many thousands of years ago Britain formed part of the continental mainland of Europe. Through its forests and across its downs passed the men of the Old Stone Age, hunters of bison and mammoths, bears and deer; gatherers of berries and roots. The Ice Age passed, and with the withdrawal northward of the ice sheet the North Sea and English Channel came into being and Britain became an island.

Likens Dimes Drive to War on Axis

Chief of Staff Dwight D. Eisenhower endorses the March of Dimes conducted January 14-31 by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis as a "fighting tribute" to the memory of Franklin D. Roosevelt. Said General of the Army Eisenhower: "There will be no question of the response from every American who understands the urgency of the appeal. In our country infantile paralysis remains as one of the scourges that we must strive to eliminate, and I am certain that the fighting services and all veterans and civilians will unite in helping to defeat this enemy just as they did in gaining the victory over the Axis in the field."

ON THE INSIDE

by MARV GOULD

After watching N.H.S. ace track team, captained by fleet-footed Freddie DeAngelis, work out last week your reporter is almost certain that Newton High will remain State Champs this coming year. Several of last year's lettermen will be back again this year to make up the nucleus of the team. These men are: in the 600 yd. dash, Manly Kiley and Neil Rouke. In the 300 yd. dash, only one of last year's squad is running again this year, he is, Saul Quint. Paul Buswell and Russ Houston are out for the high jump. Kirby Keller is again putting the shot, while John Morrissey, Howie Clark, and McAdams are out for the broad jump. Ralph "Patricia" Moore, and Robert Greenwood will most likely run in the hurdles. Newton has three newcomers that looked mighty good to yours truly. They were Gig Henderson for the 1,000, and Merrill Seltzer. The third man that we intend to speak about is Joe Braunstein. Joe was one of the top lettermen in track for Huntington Prep, last year. Good luck boys and let's keep that title of State Champions in Newton in 1946. Quite a few Newton men are returning from the armed forces every day. One of these men asked the question, "Why is it that Massachusetts, the wealthiest state in the Union, gives returned servicemen a bonus of $100 while most of the other states award bonuses ranging from $300 to $1,000. If the state cannot afford any higher than why did the legislators of this state raise their own pay $500 per annum?" I replied that I didn't know. Do you, Mr. Taxpayer?

Speaking of servicemen: Ross Humphrey, track star of a few years back, who is now in the U.S.N., worked out with the track squad last week. Ed Sullivan, former U. S. paratrooper in the European Theatre of Operations looks pretty sharp in his new civies. From the way Ed's hair is curled he must have gotten one of those "individual haircuts" at Centre Haircutting.

Lee Knaster wanted to see her name in this column but I told her that we don't give out free publicity. One of the most enjoyable teen-age surprise parties was held last week by Marilyn Wertheimer for her sister Joan. Who is this "Moe" that Lenny Gilman is always talking about?

Two Newton police patrolmen who deserve a lot of credit for keeping the traffic clear in Newton Centre during the recent snow storms are Ray Taffe and John Foley.

Many N.H.S. students will return to their cells in prison blocks 1, 2, and 3 of N.H.S. next Wednesday. Then the Monday after report cards. (Note: those inmates lead a tough life—my heart bleeds for them.)

Dick "The Meesh" Cohn recently returned from a one week vacation in Miami Beach, Florida. When we asked Dick what he thought of Florida's bathing beauties, he commented, "Hubba, Hubba, Hubba. Ow-w-w-w-w-w-w-w."

Aldermen Appropriate Funds For Continuation of Bonus

At their first meeting of the year held on January 1, the Newton Board of Aldermen, on recommendation of Mayor Paul M. Goddard, appropriated the sum of $380,000 for the Executive Department and $21,000 for the Water Department for continuation of the 15% bonus for all Newton city employees. The $380,000 appropriation is in anticipation of taxes and the $21,000 is from water revenue.

Other appropriations passed by the Board of Aldermen were: Police Department, new autos, $162; Engineering Department, new autos, $1,344; Veterans' Services Department, photo operator, $385; machine supplies, $500; clerk-typist, $256; Assessing Department, temporary clerks, $2,000; Street Department, temporary clerks, $3,000; city clerk's departments, $2,000; Registrars of Voters Department, assistants, $2,800; police listing, $3,000.

A request for an appropriation of $1,780 for an additional sanitary inspector was recommended by Mayor Goddard, but the matter was held in committee, as was also a recommendation of $3,375 of overtime work for engineers and firemen for the Water Department.

The city treasurer was authorized to borrow $5,469,000 in anticipation of revenue for the year 1946.

The appointments of John L. Keating as forest warden and inspector of petroleum, Nicholas Vedeucio as keeper of the lockup, and C. Adrian Sawyer, Jr., as a member of the Board of Appeals were confirmed.

liam T. Green, of the Children's Hospital and director of the Harvard Infantile Paralysis Clinics, is of great assistance to the Middlesex Chapter. Contributors have assurance of the importance of the need and the fact of careful administration of their contributions. Contributions should be mailed to William J. Payne, Treasurer, Newton National Bank, Newton 58, Massachusetts.

Central Club To Hold Father and Son Night Jan. 11

Floyd Stahl, Harvard Coach will be the principal speaker at the Father and Son Night to be held by the Central Club at the Central Congregational Church, Newtonville, on Friday evening, January 11. A supper will be served at 6:30 followed by a talk by Mr. Stahl. Football pictures and other movies will be shown.

An added attraction of special interest to boys and adults alike will be the Burrough's Newsboys' Foundation group of eight musketeers, with pianist and vocalist.

Nylon Paint Brushes

More than a million and a half nylon paint brushes have been furnished to the U. S. navy. The hog bristles used in the manufacture of paint brushes before the war did not come from American farms—they came from the Orient. After the war, when nylon brushes became available for civilian use, it is expected that they will replace hog bristle brushes in the better grades.

Dining With Jane and Bill

Jane—Junior, I told you to get oranges at the store, not not tangerines. What happened? Why did you do that?

Junior—But Mom, I like tangerines. They are a lot easier to peel than oranges.

Bill—Me too, son. Throw one over here. I'd like one right now.

Jane—Well, I guess that settles that. I'll have one with you, too. Hmm, aren't they nice and juicy! This is the season for tangerines, too.

Bill—I have noticed a lot of them in the store so there must be a good supply this year. What about tangerines, are they as good a source of vitamin C as oranges?

Jane—Well, I know they are a citrus fruit. I'll look in my Red Cross Nutrition Book. Oh yes, the average orange has about 50 mg. of ascorbic acid (vitamin C) while a large tangerine has 32 mg. We need something around 60 to 70 mg. a day, so a couple of tangerines would do the trick.

Junior—Let me look at the chart in your book, Mother. Oh, is that what tangerines contain? What's that big number after vitamin A?

Jane—That's 350 International Units of vitamin A.

Junior—Is that good?

Jane—Well, yes, that's pretty good. They say that we should have about 5000 International Units of vitamin A a day, so tangerines and oranges both help to give us some of the vitamin A we need each day. Milk, eggs, butter, cream, cheese and green and yellow vegetables give us the rest of it.

Junior—I guess it's all right that I did get tangerines down at the market, hey Mom?

Note—There is no loss of vitamins through oxidation. When tangerines are used, since they are eaten whole and not squeezed, they can be used in several ways in fruit cups and can be attractively and easily arranged for salads.

Many Newton Residents Members Of Jewish TB Aux.

Newton is well represented among the new members of the Brookline Auxiliary of the Jewish Tuberculosis Sanatorium of New England which has just completed its drive for new workers, the results of which were most successful under the leadership of Mrs. Julius Arvedon of Brookline.

The drive terminated with an elaborate meeting at the house of Mrs. Henry L. Brandt of Newton Centre. Mrs. Harry L. Shufro of Newton introduced Mrs. Victor M. Lewis of Brookline, President of the Board of Directors to the new members.

Mrs. Lewis told the ladies of the work of the Sanatorium which is located in Rutland, Massachusetts. She pointed out that through the united efforts of 14 Auxiliaries located in Metropolitan Boston hundreds of men and women, once very ill, once fighting a battle against the ravages of lung tuberculosis, helpless, destitute and afraid, today, these men and women have taken their rightful places in society, returned to their families and loved ones, with gladness and gratitude in their hearts to those who helped make this miracle possible.

Among the new members from Newton are: Mrs. Louis Cohen, Mrs. M. Mio Davis, Mrs. Maxwell Cohen, Mrs. Edward Davis, Mrs. Morris Feldberg, Mrs. Philip Green, Mrs. Harry Hoffman, Mrs. Samuel Kupersmith, Mrs. Jacob Kaplan, Mrs. Leonard Kabler, Mrs. Nathan Leven, Mrs. Myles Lewis, Mrs. H. "62 Fire Hydrants were broken off by motorists during the past year" (report by the Safety Commissioner of a mid-western city.)—perhaps this accounts for the epidemic of mad dogs in the same commonwealth.

The two most expensive metals in the world are Protactinium and Radium. Platinum is the most valuable metal in ordinary commercial use but rubidium and thorium, while not used extensively in a commercial sense, are more valuable. There are at least 10 metals more valuable than gold. The heaviest metal is called Osmium.

Oh, what they'd give to be in YOUR shoes!

Oh, what most of the human race would give to be in your shoes!

Clothing that you may consider old can bring new life to some suffering person to whom war brought despair and destitution. Goal of the Victory Clothing Collection is 100,000,000 garments, plus shoes and bedding. If your contribution seems negligible, bear this in mind: Every garment you give means one more human being saved from cold or sickness or possibly death.

About 25,000,000 people overseas received clothing collected from Americans last spring. But for every person clothed so far, a dozen more remain virtually threadbare. Your spare clothing will be distributed free, without discrimination, to victims of Nazi and Jap oppression in Europe, the Philippines, and the Far East.

Dig into your attics, trunks, and closets today . . . dig out all the serviceable clothing you can possibly spare . . . take it to your local collection depot now. If you doubt the need for it overseas, ask the boys who've been there!

F.E.P.C. Committee Hold Meeting

The first meeting of the Newton Committee for FEPC was held at the home of Mrs. Albert C. Kahn, 59 Reservoir avenue, Chestnut Hill on Friday, December 28. A statement was read from Representative Margaret L. Spear expressing her endorsement of the committee and her renewed pledge to fight for a strong FEPC bill at the coming session. Mrs. Spear and Mr. John C. Whitmore were the only Newton representatives who voted for FEPC at the last session.

Mr. David E. Alper, treasurer of the Massachusetts FEPC, reported on public hearings held by Governor Tobin's Anti-Bias Committee. Plans were made to enlist the support of all civic-minded Newton organizations in a drive to win the support of Senator Benjamin Bowen and Representatives George Rawson and Henderson Inches, who voted against the legislation last year in order to await the results of the Ives-Quinn Anti-Bias Bill in New York State.

Rev. Franklin Called to Brooklyn

Rev. John Shade Franklin of 45 Islington road, Auburndale, who recently received his discharge with the rank of captain after serving as an Army chaplain for many months in the Pacific area, has accepted a call to the pastorate of a Baptist Church in Brooklyn, New York.

Accompanied by Mrs. Franklin and their four children, Bernard, Rebecca, Caroline and Eleanor, he left on Thursday to assume his new pastorate.

Mr. Franklin formerly served as pastor of the Lincoln Park Baptist church in West Newton, and at the time he entered the service had been engaged in the newspaper publishing business.

Senator Saltonstall Speaks at Boston Rotary Club Meeting

Speaking before the Boston Rotary Club at the Hotel Statler on Wednesday, December 26, U. S. Senator Leverett Saltonstall called upon labor and management to live up to their responsibilities in a talk in which he outlined the prime objectives of the nation for 1946.

Sen. Saltonstall urged the balancing of the federal budget, a return of states' rights, a lasting settlement of labor-management disputes and a unification of the Army and Navy. He said the question of compulsory military training would have to be worked out, probably in conjunction with the merger plan.

"The labor-management problem is based on personal relations—not laws," Saltonstall stated. "Laws can't make labor peace. Both sides must be willing to live up to their agreements. If we legislate in an emotional crisis, we run the risk of passing poor laws, which tend to run to one extreme or other. We shall probably see more security legislation in coming years, but there will be plenty of opportunity to go ahead as we did in building for war."

"Industrial skill, ingenuity, imagination and willingness to work still exist and will be greatly needed in facing 1946," the senator said.

TIRE RATIONING ENDS

No more certificates! Once again every one is eligible to buy, and soon you'll be able to drive in and get immediate delivery on new tires for your car.

PRODUCTION OUTLOOK AT A GLANCE

Tire manufacturers have been unable to fill the great need for new passenger car tires. In case we do not have the right size tire for your car, we should be able to get it soon. Come in for full information.

HERE'S WHY you'll want the B. F. Goodrich Silvertown

OUTWEARS PREWAR TIRES!

It has been proved. More than 2,000 tests and nearly 17,000,000 miles of the toughest kind of road service showed that this new B. F. Goodrich Silvertown will Outwear Prewar natural rubber tires.

New, better rubber. B. F. Goodrich has developed a rubber that's far better than ordinary synthetics. It helps the new Silvertown wear better and run cooler. It has greater resistance to cracking and actually stands bruising and damage from accidents better.

Tire body 35% stronger. An entirely new, stronger cord is used, more of these cords are used in the top ply, an extra shock-absorbing breaker strip is included. The result: a body that is 35% stronger for additional resistance to bruises, extra blowout protection.

Flatter tread covers more ground. Called the "road level" tread, it puts more rubber on the road, permits all the tread to share the wear. Result: a further increase in mileage, less skidding, better distribution of weight, better traction, more safety on the turn.

Plus 3 years' EXTRA experience. Three years before any other manufacturer, B. F. Goodrich has been using synthetic rubber in American car owners. The extra know-how piled up in these years is reflected in the new B. F. Goodrich Silvertown.

Mrs. F. Brittain Kennedy of Waban, local chairman of the United National Clothing Collection for overseas relief of this past spring, has been asked by President Truman and Henry J. Kaiser to serve again as local chairman in a second nation-wide clothing collection for overseas relief.

President Truman in his letter said that the need for this collection is "imperative." The campaign, to be known as the Victory Clothing Collection, is scheduled for January 7, 1946 through January 31st. The national goal is 100,000,000 garments with additional shoes and bedding. Newton's goal is 80,000 garments.

The President wrote: "Without adequate clothing and other necessities of life to sustain victims of war on the long road to rehabilitation there can be no peace. I therefore ask you (Mr. Kaiser) and the more than seven thousand local chairmen of the United National Clothing Collection to lead the Nation in another clothing collection for the relief of victims of war."

Expressing willingness to accept the local chairmanship, Mrs. Kennedy said, "In view of the President's appeal, Mr. Kaiser's res-

A Statement From Mayor Goddard On Overseas Need For Clothing

There will be Victory Clothing Collections for Overseas Relief on January 13th and 20th here in Newton. The necessity for these collections is known to all of us, for there are millions of people in the war devastated lands who are struggling against hunger, disease and cold. Clothing, shoes, and bedding are urgently needed, and needed immediately. Previous collections have helped, but more clothing is required to relieve suffering humanity.

The collections will be made from door to door on the two Sundays, January 13th and January 20th. Newton's Goal is 80,000 garments, and it is hoped that this will be a Victory effort on the part of all citizens. Let's do our full share in helping to relieve the intense suffering abroad.

Newton Citizens may be proud of their contribution in this year of uncertain future events. We are a few hundred dollars behind our record however.

The sale is not officially over until April 1st, and money is gladly accepted even throughout the year. Some follow-up postal cards will be sent out as reminders as so often the stamps are overlooked on a crowded desk.

The Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association at 1357 Washington street, West Newton has been active since October of last year. It is not too late to buy Seals.

A new ordinance has been adopted by the Newton Board of Aldermen which decrees that in the future no city official, head of department or board of commission authorized to expend money may incur any expenditure without a written order which has been certified with a statement from the City Comptroller of Accounts that sufficient funds for the same are available and have been appropriated.

Chief Veducchio Appoints Two to Police Department

Announcement has been made by Chief Nicholas Veducchio of the appointment of two new regular members to the Newton Police Department.

The two appointees are Patrolman Louis Cedrone and Ernest Prescott. Both have been serving as members of the reserve force, and have performed regular duty due to the shortage of regular patrolmen.

The new ordinance reads as follows:

"No officer, department head, board of commission authorized to expend money shall make requisition for purchasing of supplies or materials until funds are available therefor, nor shall they enter into contract for services to be rendered to the city, other than for personal services provided for in the budget or supplemental appropriation, without

Fire Dept. to Be Represented at Osborne Services

A detail from the Newton Fire Department will attend memorial services to be held in St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Newton Highlands on Sunday afternoon, January 13, for Sgt. William H. Osborne, who before entering the Army Air Service, had served as a military substitute in the Fire Department.

Word was recently received from the War Department by Sgt. Osborne's family that he had died in a Japanese prison camp. He had previously been reported as missing in April 1945, when the B-29 on which he had served as a gunner was shot down over Japan after a bombing flight from Salpan. He was a member of the 20th Air Force.

Sgt. Osborne who was in his 33rd year was born in Newton, the son of Thomas and Mary Osborne. He was married to Miss Florence Louise Knox of Lynn on November 13, 1943. They have a one year old daughter, Judith Louise, born January 11, 1945, whom Sgt. Osborne had never seen.

Besides his wife and daughter he is survived by his mother, Mrs. Mary Osborne, who resides with his wife at 30 Bernard Street Newton Highlands, and by three brothers, Lt. Robert Osborne, USA, stationed in Seattle, Washington, Edward Osborne of Newton Upper Falls and John Osborne of Stoneham.

Politics With Color

(The opinions expressed in this column are the writer's own, and do not necessarily reflect the views or policy of this newspaper.—Editor's Note.)

Frankly, the radio address of President Truman left me cold. As one who is supposed to know at least a little about political affairs, it seemed to me to be extremely naive, to say the least.

Let's get right down to cases. The people of this country have now been asked to take pen in hand and write to their own Congressmen, demanding action pronto. Very well. How does that affect us here in Newton? We must write to Hon. Christian A. Herter and tell him that we want immediate action on various proposals of the President. In the first place, some of us may not be too sure that we agree with all of Mr. Truman's proposed legislation. We may not be as rigidly ardent and conservative as Senator Taft of Ohio; still, we may sincerely feel that a few of our Chief Executive's ideas have not been worked out too soundly.

In the second place, suppose that we are one hundred percent in agreement with Mr. Truman, both as to the general objectives and as to the detailed method for writing them into laws. What then? If we know anything at all about political procedure we know that it is the Democrats who control Congress and hold all key positions on committees. The Democrats hold all important chairmanships and also have a majority of the members of all committees. Why, therefore, should you and I tell Congressman Herter what to do? In my opinion, he is undoubtedly just as disgusted with the Congressional set-up and with Congress as we are. What can he do about it? He is just as much a lone voice in the wilderness as any one of us.

Now, what CAN President Truman himself do about it? He can read the riot act to some twenty or thirty members of HIS OWN party who are the real cause of the present delay. Why did he not specifically mention on the radio the tactics of a Congressman from his own state of Missouri, Rep. Roger C. Slaughter, who has been holding up in the vitality important Rules Committee a bill dealing with Fair Employment Practices? Why, also, did he not refer to the chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, Rep. Doughton of North Carolina, who has also been responsible for holding up at least one bill of primary importance? It is men like these who should take the heat of the criticism and not men in his own party or in the Republican party who are not in positions of power and influence.

There is, however, one other aspect of the situation which bothers me. We have become accustomed to having our President act like a leader. Even the late Mr. Roosevelt's worst enemies will admit that he was a dynamic leader at all times, and especially in times of serious crises. One cannot visualize Mr. Roosevelt suggesting casually a lot of half-baked laws and then running to the people and begging them to spur Congress into action. He always made the public feel that he knew just what he was doing and why. He would concentrate on ONE issue at a time and dramatize it so effectively that we all knew what he was trying to accomplish. Also, he did not hesitate to dress down members of his own party on occasion.

Let's be frank. President Truman is not a big man in any sense of the word. He never wanted his present job and he would unquestionably give almost anything in the world to get out from under it. Even Mr. Roosevelt would find his hands full in times like these. The latter, however, was ponse, and Mr. Kaiser's letter to me. I feel I must accept the responsibility to organize our community to meet this new challenge.

"UNRRA has informed local chairmen that every pound of the clothing contributed in the nationwide collection this past spring will be in the hands of war victims overseas by Christmas.

But Mr. Kaiser's letter to me said that total victory has brought many more millions of war victims within range of our assistance. I know our community will again make every effort to do its part. No innocent victim of these overseas horrors must go naked while clothing hangs unused in the closets of America. We will all of us make our contribution to ward a happier New Year for the helpless. Since the task is urgent, let's get ready now to undertake it. All that is asked is whatever used clothing, shoes and bedding we can spare.

"According to Mr. Kaiser's letter to me each contributor will be invited to enclose in the garments a 'good-will' letter to the unknown recipients. I think it is a wonderful idea for this expression of international friendship."

"URGENTLY NEEDED": Mrs. Kennedy continued, "are coats, suits, trousers, skirts, dresses, shirts, sweaters, knitwear underwear, pajamas, night gowns, shoes, rubbers, blankets, bedding, piece goods remnants.

"The following items are NOT DESIRED: 'Straw hats, toys, feather beds, pillows, mattresses and household furnishings."

Clothing for both winter and summer wear is needed. Although clothing need not be in perfect repair, it must be useful to the people who will receive it. All types of washable garments should be washed but need not be ironed.

Contributions should be securely wrapped and tied in bundles, cartons or cloth bags. Suits and dresses should be packed as compact smart enough to build a brain-trust to assist him. Mr. Truman does not appear to have any brain-trust. This is the time to go out and get one.

The Strike Situation
Paul Mallon closed his daily column in the Herald with these words a few days ago. "Neither party nor a company has the right to destroy the public's rights to services and goods at reasonable prices and just wages." Think that over. It sounds a bit like Calvin Coolidge's pronouncement at the time of the Boston Police strike in 1919. We hear a great deal of talk about the rights of the general public? Who is there to protect the public's interest? Theoretically, the government should see to it that the poor public gets a break once in a while. One trouble here is that Mr. Roosevelt, with all his excellent attributes, failed to handle labor with a firm hand. He coddled them from start to finish, for one reason or another. We are now reaping the whirlwind. Labor has gotten completely out of hand. We have too many Petrolis and John Lewises running around the country, telling the public what it can or cannot have. Just imagine the Governor of Michigan, calling futilely on a labor leader and asking humbly for a few moments of his valuable time and then being told that the gentleman in question was too busy to see him. Meanwhile, the rights of the people were being seriously threatened by strike activities. Mull that over, also.

issuing a written order therefore, the order before delivery to contractor, have certified thereto a statement from the city Comptroller that there is sufficient unencumbered balance of the appropriation to be charged to pay the amount due under the order.

The adoption of this ordinance is to avert a repetition of the situation which occurred recently in the Street Department and which at the request of Mayor Paul M. Goddard is now under investigation by the district attorney's office, the state and the city. The investigation is the result of the discovery that indebtedness amounting to several thousand dollars incurred by the Street Department during the year had not been paid and that no funds for the payment of these bills had been appropriated. It was therefore necessary to make appropriations before the end of the year to clear up these debts.

Kiwanis Club

Speaking about "Veterans' Benefits" before the meeting of the Newton Kiwanis Club on Wednesday of last week, at the Newton Y.M.C.A., Edmund T. Dungan, commissioner of the Newton Department of Veterans' Service, urged more employers to institute on-the-job training courses for veterans, who will be paid under the GI Bill at the same rate as men who elect to go to college. Employers who train veterans under this provision of the Bill may pay the trainees, a sum, which together with that paid by the government, will not exceed the amount earned by a journeyman in the same trade, Mr. Dungan said. Employers seeking information about the training courses may contact Norman Mitchell in Mr. Dungan's office at City Hall.

The importance of filing disability claims without delay was stressed by Commissioner Dungan, who said that many veterans are so anxious to get home that they told them at separation centers. He urged veterans to keep up their payments on national insurance until they decide whether to convert the policy.

Veterans who wish to take advantage of the education benefits must file the required form with the college of their choice, which works through the Veterans' Administration if the man is admitted. GI loans are handled directly by the banks, Dungan said. A veterans' family is entitled to $100 for burial expenses and an American flag. If the family is destitute, an additional $100 may be obtained, or the body may be interred in the Soldiers' Lot maintained by the City of Newton.

A man who has received a blue discharge may apply to the Adjutant General's office for a review of his case and may be given a white discharge, Mr. Dungan revealed. He also discussed medical benefits to which the veteran is entitled, stating that emergency operations and treatment for malaria may be obtained at government hospitals, even while the claim is pending and before adjudication.

The Newton Citizens' Advisory Committee's functions include the services of a doctor, who may order immediate treatment, Mr. Dungan stated.

President Benjamin F. Louis, who conducted the meeting, appealed for aid in the national clothing drive for Europe to be held in Newton on Jan. 13, and Jan. 20.

Mr. Louis and H. J. Pettengill are serving on the citywide committee.

Newton-Wellesley Hospital

6th, succeeding Mrs. Ralph W. Conant, Mrs. Oliver Ames Lothrop, and Mrs. Henry F. Keever, who have served their allotted three-year term. 25 directors, of the board of 64 members, were chosen for a three-year term. Mrs. Gordon B. Wilkes, Miss Madeline Cobb, and Mrs. Robert A. Hoggsgott composed the nominating committee.

In greeting the members Mrs. Walker said it was the first annual meeting in four years when the hospital has not been under the strain of a possible emergency due to war. 1945 stands out as a momentous year in history and stands to the association as one of its biggest years in accomplishment.

The financial helplessness to the hospital. The association does not work on a budget, Mrs. Walker said, but takes everything that comes to it and spends it all as the board of directors directs.

Above the fireplace of the lounge, behind Mrs. Walker, was an enlarged view of the proposed new hospital building, which offered a challenge to the members to continue "to supplement the needs of and provide equipment for the hospital and the school of nursing," as stated in the by-laws.

Mrs. Walker last introduced Lieut. Col. Lewis S. Pilcher, chief of surgical staff, Lovell General Hospital, who spoke on "Experiences in War Surgery." He told of the tremendous new developments in surgery, and discussed the way the Army handled war wounded, through three groups, the combat medics, the medical regiments and the medical hospitals. Also the various types of war surgery, performed by top-notch doctors overseas. Dr. Pilcher feels that the organization of the medical set-up is amazing, showing great foresight, careful planning and splendid effectiveness. Because of this expert planning our soldiers did not have tetanus or gangrene, and there were very few amputations. Germans had not had this same preparation and organized planning. Our doctors were able to save lives. But if communities had not also organized, if volunteers had not freed doctors and nurses this would not have been possible. Plasma and blood was the outstanding lifesaving treatment. Injury to arteries or heart were not fatal in this war. One doctor did 300 operations on the heart, all of his patients recovering. A tremendous number of lives were saved by war surgery.

At the close of the reports and program coffee was served with Mrs. Oliver Ames Lothrop, Mrs. Henry L. Keever, Mrs. F. Marsena Butts, Mrs. Edward W. Pride and Mrs. Gordon B. Wilkes as hostesses. Pourers were Mrs. Worthing L. West, Mrs. Ellsworth M. Tracy, Mrs. Dana M. Dutch and Mrs. Ralph W. Conant.

Returning to the United States he became Professor of Moral Theology at Western College and in 1937 was appointed Rector of that institution where all the Jesuits of the New England Province take their philosophy and theology courses.

Upon completing his term as Rector at Western, Father Hewitt was again honored by his Superiors in his appointment as Rector of the Immaculate Conception church and Rector of Boston College High School.

Father Hewitt's sermon will deal with the challenge of the post-war world.

nurses' aides, dietitian aides and grey ladies and new classes will start shortly.

Mr. Gerhard Hartman, Director of the Hospital, reported that no beds had been closed at the hospital this year, and 115,000 patients had been cared for. Chief of a hospital is its maternal mortality rate and there was none in 1945. There had been some increase in income but also in expense, of supplies and labor. The buildings were being kept clean but some repairs were deferred. The hospital continues to need the full support of volunteers. The drop in volunteer help has not been appreciable and the volunteers deserve to be complimented. The Library for doctors has been an immense help, Mr. Hartman said. His remarks on the development of the Blue Cross and the figures given of $62,000 paid by patients in 1942 increasing to $164,000 in 1945 seemed amazing. He told of all the plans to help physicians to return to civilian life and spoke of the fact that the hospital had reopened clinical staff conferences and was making refresher courses available to returning veteran physicians.

Newton Lions Club

At the monthly business meeting of the Newton Lions Club, Secretary Austin Flint read the reports of the successful Christmas Party recently held at the "Y." Pertinent among the facts brought out was that a handsome crocheted bed spread donated by Mrs. Roy Morgan, a wife of one of the Lions, brought $64.00 for the Sea Scout Troop 13 sponsored by the Club. It also was announced that District Governor Gates of Wakefield, the guest of honor at the party had asked that the local club provide a quartette for the Annual State Convention. He was high in his praise of the excellent work Lion Tamer Jack Tapper had done in leading the local Lions along the musical path. The successful party was a credit to Lew Tedstone and his able committee.

Bill: (Serving dinner) Hey, quick, give me a holder. This cover is hot. What have you got in this casserole anyway—animal, vegetable, or mineral.

Jane: It's just cauliflower with some cheese sauce over it.

Junior: Let me see, Dad. Hmmm! It looks good. Give me a little to get started with.

Jane: Cauliflower seems to be a pretty good vegetable buy right now, so I'm trying to find some different ways of preparing it so that you won't get tired of it.

Bill: That's a good idea. By the way, cauliflower is a white vegetable. I thought you were an advocate of green and yellow vegetables? Where does cauliflower rank in your scheme of things?

Jane: Oh, it's a good source of ascorbic acid (vitamin C). When it is cooked properly a good proportion of this vitamin C can be saved. Junior was nibbling on some of the raw flowerets. I have a notion to put some of it in a salad tomorrow night. It really has a delicious flavor.

Bill: That's O.K. by me; I always go for your raw vegetable combinations.

Jane: I even use some of the outer green leaves of the cauliflower, which are a good source of vitamin A. I just cook them up with the head of the cauliflower.

Bill: How many different kinds of cauliflower are there, anyway, Jane? What do you mean, Bill.

Bill: I had some downtown yesterday and it was a pinkish color. I didn't care for it at all.

Jane: Oh, that's the same kind of cauliflower as we have only it was overcooked, which made it turn pink. Cauliflower can be cooked in 12 minutes if you separate the flowerets and 20 minutes if the head is left whole. It not only looks better when it is cooked for a short period of time, but also most of the food nutrients are saved.

Junior: How about some more, Dad? Right here on the side of my plate.

Jane's recipe for cheese sauce: Melt 2 tablespoons of butter or oleomargarine. Stir 2 tablespoons of flour into the fat. Add gradually one cup of warm milk. When the white sauce is thickened, add 1/2 cup of grated cheese and season with salt and pepper. Pour the sauce over the cauliflower and garnish with paprika. Serve immediately.

F. A. Day Junior High School

The F. A. Day Junior High School may well feel proud of its record in the sale of War Bonds and Stamps. Since 1942 when the school program started, the pupils and teachers have invested $93,989.65. It was the first school in the city to get the Minute Man flag, which means that every child purchased bonds or stamps at some time during each month, and it has never been taken down.

Pupils bought bonds or stamps 100% strong for 28 months, of which the last 25 were consecutive. These investments have made possible the purchase of jeeps, a "duck," field ambulances, army mules, and hospital units.

In the final Victory Loan Drive the $8,196.55 invested will enable Day to have plaques placed on two hospital beds. Forty-seven pupils are eligible for Treasury Certificates, awarded to all who bought bonds at school during the last drive. They are: June Boulter, Sally Lou Pawcett, Carolyn Hand, Jane Beach, William Underhill, Allan Parker, Rayma Whittemore, David Cravatts, Marcia Collins, Nancy Hood, Elmer Mercer, Eileen Carey, Phillip Kerrigan, Donald Koch, Robert Simonds, Frances Jonah, Herbert Litchman, Rita Magnarelli, Blanche Berni, Nancy Flayderman, William Bell, Robert Gifford, Louis McMurrer, Cynthia Watts, Norma Barbutto, Carol MacDonald, Norma Boule, Charles Haase, Barbara Brinkley, Mary Tramotozzi, Richard Morley, Barbara McCullough, William Olsen, Robert Stanfield, Kenneth Wilson, Stephane Lindquist, William Warren, Richard Holmes, Lawrence Tripp, Allan Rowlings, Nancy Bilezikian, Robert Gallagher, Donald Boudrot, Virginia Hanson, Charles Eades, William Fried, Ruth Dokton, Ann Burnham.

School publicity and promotion of sales has been ably handled by Miss Louise Paul and Mr. Alden Reul of the faculty. They have been assisted by Mrs. Boyd Hayden, Mrs. Charles Snow, Mrs. John Kellar, Mrs. Edwin P. McGill, and Mrs. Edgar Hay.

All seventh graders, pupils of Room 9, and new pupils in Grades 8 and 9 will have their pictures

FREEDOM!

to Fend for Herself . . .

WHAT CAN YOU SPARE
THAT SHE CAN WEAR?

THIS LITTLE GIRL is free—to fend for herself! Free—to face a multitude of problems.

Her problems are the world's problems. Let's face them. For instance, let's face the desperate need for clothing now in Europe and Asia.

Goal of the Victory Clothing Collection is 100,000,000 garments, plus shoes and bedding. If your contribution seems negligible, bear this in mind: Every garment you give means one more human being saved from cold or sickness or possibly death.

About 25,000,000 people overseas received clothing collected from Americans last spring. But for every person clothed so far, a dozen more remain virtually threadbare. Your spare clothing will be distributed free, without discrimination, to victims of Nazi and Jap oppression in Europe, the Philippines, and the Far East.

In 'most any town or city overseas there is someone who can translate English. You can help build international friendship by writing a simple, friendly letter to pin to the clothing you contribute.

Dig into your attics, trunks, and closets today. Dig out all the clothing you can spare. Take it to your local collection depot now.

What YOU Can Do!

1. Get together all the clothing you can spare.
2. Have your donation ready when trucks call for it.
3. Volunteer some spare time to your local committee.

Newton League of Women Voters

At the first open board meeting of the year the Newton League of Women Voters developed plans for a revision of their status in the State and National Leagues. In a three-way discussion between Mrs. Robert W. Hutchinson III, financial chairman of the State League, Mrs. Robert T. Bushnell, chairman of Legislation, and Mrs. William M. Barber, chairman of International Relations, the reorganization of the budget and the launching of a solicitation campaign was undertaken with Mrs. John L. MacNeil as chairman. This financial campaign, directed by Mrs. MacNeil and a committee of five, Mrs. Harold M. Bowman, Mrs. James H. Lewis, Mrs. William M. Barber with Mrs. Mark F. Lessee in charge of publicity, is scheduled for the month of February and will be to acquaint the public with the policies and practical work, on a non-partisan basis, offered by the League.

A program of this order ensures the Newton League of financial autonomy while providing stronger support to the State and National Leagues.

A delightful lecture "Colorful New England through the Seasons" by Virginia Anderson, illustrated by natural color slides, a pictorial delight of breath-taking beauty and charm, is scheduled. A social half hour will precede the meeting with coffee served by Mrs. Donald J. MacPherson, and her committee.

PEOPLE OF CULTURE HAVE used Persian rugs to adorn their homes for centuries. And lovers of beauty of hand-crafted things will continue to use them as long as Persian Rugs are available. But machines have replaced most of the craftsmen of the past. The most notable surviving art of today is the Persian Rug-weaver's. In limited quantities Rugs are still made in the old traditional way.

The rugs we select to sell to you embody the best a Persian weaver creates with his loom. And when you purchase a GREGORIAN RUG, you are truly buying a treasure to be enjoyed in your generation and in your children's.

A Gregorian Rug today is an heirloom tomorrow

TIRE RATIONING ENDS

No more certificate! Once again every one is eligible to buy, and soon you'll be able to drive in and get immediate delivery on new tires for your car.

PRODUCTION OUTLOOK AT A GLANCE

Tire manufacturers have been unable to fill the great need for new passenger car tires. In case we do not have the right size tire for your car, we should be able to get it soon. Come in for full information.

HERE'S WHY you'll want the B. F. Goodrich Silvertown

OUTWEARS PREWAR TIRES!

It has been proved. More than 2,000 tests and nearly 17,000,000 miles of the toughest kind of road service showed that this new B.F. Goodrich Silvertown will Outwear Prewar natural rubber tires.

New, better rubber. B.F. Goodrich has developed a rubber that's far better than ordinary synthetics. It keeps the new Silvertown wear better and run cooler. It has greater resistance to cracking and actually stands bruising and damage from accidents better.

Tire body 35% stronger. An entirely new, stronger cord is used, more of these cords are used in the top ply, an extra shock-absorbing breaker strip is included. The result: a body that is 35% stronger for additional resistance to bruises, extra blowout protection.

Flatter tread covers more ground. Called the "road level" tread, it puts more rubber on the road, permits all the tread to share the wear. Result: a further increase in mileage, less scuffing, better distribution of weight, better traction, more safety on the turns.

Plus 3 years' EXTRA experience. Three years before any other manufacturer, B.F. Goodrich sold tires containing synthetic rubber to American car owners. The extra know-how piled up in these years is reflected in the new B.F. Goodrich Silvertown.

What Happens to the Money Collected During March of Dimes?

Half the money collected during the March of Dimes stays right in our city (or county) ready to be used for the medical care of children or adults attacked by infantile paralysis.

Infantile paralysis is a very expensive illness; the patients need constant care, and often require treatments for a long time after they FEEL well.

Our County (or city) Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis helps the family to pay the bills for medical care and treatment, unless the family is easily able to pay them themselves.

Besides the new cases every year, treatments go on being needed for old cases, and these are provided also. So are orthopedic appliances where they

Approve Licenses for Package In Waban and Upper Falls

Two new licenses for package goods stores in Newton were approved by the Newton License Commission this week and are now awaiting the O. K. of the State Alcoholic Beverage Commission.

One of the licenses is for a location at 1223 Chestnut street, Newton Upper Falls, the applicants being Edward A. Hickey, a lieutenant-colonel in the U. S. Army who served in China and has recently returned home, and Edward H. Powers, former Newton alderman, who served in World War I.

The other is for a location at 474 Woodward street, Waban, the applicants being Walter G. Sheehan and John F. McLeash, both veterans of World War II.

The increase in the population of Newton, according to the latest State census, raised the quota for licensing of package goods stores making two more available. There are at present 14 package goods stores in the city, and these two would bring the total to 16.

Although more than 100 applications were filed the number who qualified was 65 because of the requirement that applicants must have a location for the business.

Annual Meeting and Luncheon Of Girl Scouts Held January 16

One hundred and fifty friends of Girl Scouting met at the Newtonville Woman's Club at 1 o'clock on Wednesday, January 16, for the annual meeting and luncheon of the Newton Local Council Girl Scouts. Here they were greeted by Mayor Goddard, who extended a welcome in the name of the city; by Mr. Thomas Shirley, president of the Community Chest, of which the Scout organization is a member; by Mr. James Walton, president of Norumbega Council Boy Scouts; and by Mrs. George Larsen, president of the Girl Scouts. Father Dolphin, of the Sacred Heart parish in Newton Centre, presented the invocation before luncheon.

At each place was the 1945 Annual Report of all Standing Committees and Officers, and therefore the customary oral reports were omitted from the very short business meeting. Mrs. William V. M. Fawcett, a former Commissioner, awarded five year service pins to several Scouters, and Mrs. Theron B. Walker, also a past Commissioner, gave four ten-year, three twenty-year and two twenty-five year badges to women who had served the girls in this community long and faithfully.

At the annual meeting of the Newton National Bank, Wilfred Chagnon was elected a director. The following directors were re-elected: Walter R. Amesbury, James R. Bancroft, John J. Cahill, Frank R. Collection of Clothing on South Side Of Commonwealth Ave. This Sunday

Donations Should Be Securely Wrapped and Left Outside of Door

Collection of Clothing for Overseas Relief will be made Sunday, January 20, on the South side of Commonwealth avenue to the Wellesley-Needham-Brookline and Boston lines.

Persons donating to the Clothing Collection are asked to have their packages securely tied and to leave them outside their door. Trucks will collect them during the day.

UNRRA representatives and other relief workers report that the tired, terrorized people of the bomb-gutted, mine-strewn, fire-scarred, looted lands are trying desperately to help themselves. We can give them the wherewithal for this self-help.

We have all got a world to build. But the war sufferers have first got to build a roof to shelter their families, a place of refuge for their sick and their old and their dying, a small place of peace and safety in which the heirs to this brave new world may be born. They must be clothed against the bitter world they now inhabit. They must be clothed with more than courage to meet the challenge of the better world they mean to build.

Mrs. F. Brittain Kennedy, local chairman of the United Clothing Collection says:

"For us to part with a used coat or a pair of outgrown shoes doesn't seem like a great deed of self sacrifice nor is it much of a deprivation. But to the destitute man or woman overseas that used coat or second-hand pair of shoes may be a passport to the future. In a hundred thousand cases it may be the difference between hope and despair, between a life

Over $337,000 Raised in Community Chest Campaign

Exceeds Goal By $17,000

The final report of the 1946 campaign of the Newton Community Chest shows that Newton raised $337,559.81 for the Greater Boston United War Fund Campaign held last fall, according to a statement made early this week by Lawrence B. Damon, Newton Campaign Chairman. This total, according to Mr. Damon, is within $500 of the amount raised for 1945 and surpasses substantially the goal of $320,000 accepted by Newton for this campaign.

All of the five divisions in the campaign exceeded their goals by substantial amounts with the Mercantile Division leading with approximately 107%, closely followed by Residential with 106%, Advance Gifts, Manufacturing, and Municipal ran a close race with all of these divisions averaging from 101% to 102%. The Advance Gifts and Residential Divisions together raised approximately 84% of all funds subscribed with West Newton, Newton Centre, Waban, and Newtonville the five top villages. This is an exceptional showing and great credit goes to all leaders and workers who had a part in attaining these fine results, and to the citizens of Newton for their generosity.

In his letter to the Red Feather Workers of 1945, Mr. Damon states:

"Ours was not an easy task. We faced a truly great challenge. In the disturbing atmosphere of

Aid to War Victims Essential to Peace

America and Americans have given unstintingly of their national substance to defeat enemies who threatened to impose their rule and their evil will upon all other peoples of the earth. We have given generously of our national treasure, and to the extent needed, of the lives of our sons and daughters.

The contribution we made to victory in terms of money cannot be easily measured against the unutterable human suffering which the enemy brought to vast sections of mankind in Europe and Asia. The great natural bulwarks of our protecting oceans, plus the great sacrifices made by our Allies, helped to keep from our shores the actual devastation of war.

Starvation and disease stalk much of the civilized world beyond our shores. The America which contributed so unselfishly in the dark hours of war cannot now refuse to help neighbors in their present physical distress. Every American will want to give to the full extent of his ability to alleviate the dreadful suffering which other peoples are undergoing.

The Victory Clothing Collection is a noble undertaking in this direction. Articles of clothing which we can spare will help to save lives and to make friends. Vast populations face the dread of the terrible Asiatic and European winter without shoes, without warm clothing of any kind. North China was left by the Japanese as by a swarm of hungry locusts. Nothing which could be stolen was left untouched. The same is true of other occupied areas. Our Allies, who were locked in a death grapple with the common enemy at close hand—Allies who gave us the precious time we needed to prepare—were unable during the war to supply their civilian populations with new clothing. They are in almost as dire need as the formerly occupied and enslaved lands of Europe and Asia.

To win the peace, as we won the war, we must all give and give generously. Clothing now is as important as bullets were a few months ago to save lives, to stave off untold misery, and to undo the evil works of the barbarian aggressors.

Infantile—

help the patient. And even equipment for hospitals caring for infantile paralysis patients.

Every summer and fall there are epidemics of infantile paralysis, here or there in the country. Those districts frequently need more help than the local Chapter is able to give.

Because the National Headquarters of the National Foundation receives half of the money raised, it can give this help. Money is sent to the scene of the outbreak; wool for hot packs is given; sometimes "iron lungs" are loaned. Doctors, nurses and physical therapists who have been especially trained in the care of infantile paralysis cases are "borrowed" from other places where there is no epidemic. Sometimes, when the need is urgent, they are flown from one end of the country to the other.

The half of the money going to the National Headquarters is used also to train professional people in modern methods of the treatment of infantile paralysis.

All the funds for research come out of that half too. There are many problems to be solved before infantile paralysis can be conquered as smallpox, for instance, has been conquered. The money we contribute enables the scientist to go on trying to solve these problems. The National Foundation is supported entirely by popular contributions.

Politics With Color

Strike Situation

Although I hold no brief for that fiery radio commentator, Walter Winchell, who disturbs the air waves every Sunday evening with his flights of fact and fancy, it seemed to me that he had the germ of a mighty idea on Jan. 13. He suggested, in apparent seriousness, that it was about time for the general public the much-abused third party in all these strikes, to take a hand and exert its influence on both labor and management. Winchell's idea, as I understood it, was that the average citizen, currently caught in the middle and squeezed by both sides, should conduct his own strike and refuse, for a period of three days, to buy any merchandise or service anywhere. You and I would give up our movies, our public transportation, our hair-dos, our drugstore and grocery store purchases, etc. etc. After three days of THAT, it might possibly occur to labor and management alike that the much-abused and generally ignored public was deserving of serious consideration.

Now, this man Winchell always draws his pictures with heavy strokes of the brush and he was rather gruesome Sunday as he went so far as to contemplate the extreme unpleasantness of boycotting the undertaker, who always considers himself immune to labor difficulties, business depression and the like. I won't go into detail, but you can imagine what he was driving at. However, I still think that Winchell has a real idea. All we need is a leader to show us how we can bring our influence to bear in times like these. Certainly, nobody with half a brain will dispute the fact that our government should take steps to insure the continuance of ALL essential public services regardless of any disagreements between labor and management. Just think of the suffering and the deaths which would unquestionably result from a nationwide telephone strike. How would you and I reach our family doctor, our fire and police departments, to mention but a few essential people? It now is up to Congress to take a hand and see what it can do. Let us hope that the 1946 elections will not paralyze the average Congressman's sense of responsibility to the general public.

Congressional Interviews
My first reaction, as I read the series of interviews with Massachusetts Congressmen in last Sunday's Herald was disappointment that our own Congressman, Hon. Christian A. Herter, was reported vacationing on a South Carolina plantation. According to the paper, Mr. Herter had not heard the Truman address or read it in the daily papers. He agreed to answer a questionnaire to be sent to his Washington office, but up to the time of the article I refer to, he had not had time to reply. I shall wait with interest for his comments.

An even greater disappointment to your columnist was the reported attitude of our lone lady Congresswoman, Mrs. Edith Nourse Rogers of Lowell, who is seldom at a loss for words. To be sure, this lady has built up a reputation for being profoundly concerned about any and all veteran legislation. Possibly she figures that she cannot afford to knock labor unduly because of the fact that hundreds of thousands of veterans of both world wars are members of labor unions. The Herald stated that Mrs. Rogers "declined to answer the questions" and that she "was greatly disturbed by the labor situation, but was not prepared to commit herself." I wonder how long the lady needs to make up her mind on the most vital question before Congress today.

Minority Leader Joseph W. Martin, Jr., who was likewise vacationing in Florida, did not seem to have time to answer the questionnaire. Too bad. Congressman Holmes of Worcester was ill and several others failed to reply. In fact, the only Republicans in the House of Representatives who were reported as stating their views were Congressman Angier L. Goodwin of Melrose, Charles R. Clason of Springfield and Charles L. Gifford of Barnstable. The latter,

Newton Red Cross Officers Appointed

The Executive Committee announces two new appointments: Mr. Walter Webling has been appointed Treasurer to succeed Mr. George S. Fuller who has been active in that position for ten years.

Mr. Ralph Emery appointed Chairman of First Aid to succeed Mrs. Clifford O. Mooney. Mr. Emery has served very actively on the Committee as instructor in First Aid.

In particular, was refreshingly frank and courageous. When queried as to his views on the President's labor program, he said:—What program? The President has no labor program. Why doesn't he courageously come out and ask Congress to pass something with teeth in it? The present program amounts to nothing and both sides are against it. What I'd like to see is some real legislation to force unions to live up to their contracts."

I wish more of our 435 Congressmen had the intestinal fortitude to stand up and speak their piece, regardless of the consequences.

Weekly Quiz

Prior to Senator Leverett Saltonstall, the most recent Governor claiming a Newton residence, we have to go back to 1887 to find a Newton Governor of Massachusetts. From 1884-1887 a Newtonian named George D. Robinson served as Governor of the Commonwealth. Gov. Robinson died on Feb. 22, 1896 and on the day of the funeral, Feb. 26, according to the Newton Graphic, flags were at half-mast everywhere.

This week's question is:—What signer of the Declaration of Independence was born on Waverly avenue, Newton on April 19, 1721? That, I believe, is the most difficult question ever asked on this quiz program. The first person submitting the correct answer will receive, free, a one-year subscription to the Newton Graphic.

of usefulness and one of dragging misery—between life and death itself."

Twenty-five million people in Europe, China and the Philippines were clothed as a result of America's search of its attics, closets and chests last spring. Total victory and the consequent opening up of the liberated territories have revealed misery to tax our imagination. Twenty-five million is only a small percentage of the homeless, ragged millions of the world. These millions of war victims don't expect a sudden Utopia any more than you do. They only hope you will help tide them over a period of direct emergency. What can you spare that they can wear?

President Truman says a second clothing appeal in America is imperative. The Victory Clothing Collection during January is a nationwide effort to collect 100,000,000 serviceable garments with additional shoes (tied securely in pairs) and bedding for the relief of war victims overseas.

This kind of educational program gives us an opportunity to broaden our knowledge, pleasure and appreciation of many different kinds of food; to avoid being dubbed as provincial in our tastes; to help us get greater understanding of the variety of customs in American living and eating; to help us develop some sophistication in our choice of dishes ("Horrors, can he only eat steak?" — "she doesn't always order chicken salad;"")

Baltimore's "Miracle Boy" Walks Again

Five-year-old Roger Hawk, almost completely paralyzed for eleven months, made so rapid and complete a recovery within five weeks that he's called the "miracle boy" of Kernan's Hospital.

Stricken with infantile paralysis in August of 1944, just after he had been crowned "Supreme King" of perfect health in a contest for Baltimore youngsters, young Roger's case was considered almost hopeless.

Parents of the boy took the Polio Emergency

Volunteers training course in polio care, sponsored by the Maryland Chapter of The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, so that they could help Roger in his fight back to health.

First photo shows Mrs. Hawk helping Roger with his physical therapy exercises to strengthen weakened muscles. Second photo, Roger shows mother and dad that he really can walk again and without crutches. Dad, incidentally, was also a polio victim in his youth.

Parents As Members Of P.E.V. Program Speed Recovery

At Kernan's Hospital, Baltimore, they called five-year-old Roger B. Hawk the Miracle Boy. Roger recently took his first steps without crutches, after a siege of infantile paralysis that kept him bed-ridden for 11 months.

Doctors at the hospital give much of the credit for the boy's remarkable recovery to the devotion of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roger B. Hawk.

When the lad was hospitalized by the Maryland Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis in August 1944, he was almost completely paralyzed. He was given the best of modern medical care and treatment, but progress was slow.

Roger's parents went through long, anxious months wishing vainly that they might do something to help. Then they learned that if they took the Polio Emergency Volunteers training course sponsored by the Maryland Chapter, they'd be permitted to come into the hospital and themselves help in the care of their child. Gratefully and earnestly, the Hawks went into training, instructed by doctors and physical therapists.

They reported to the hospital and went to work, Mr. Hawk by night and Mrs. Hawk by day. Under the supervision of Roger's doctor, they worked with nurses and physical therapists, helping to give the little boy his hot packs and exercises. Perhaps the devoted care of his parents, right there every day helping the hospital staff to care for him, gave small Roger an extra incentive to recovery. In any case, the boy began to respond to treatment.

Roger continued to improve steadily. Within five weeks, he was able to stand and walk with the aid of crutches. To the hospital staff, it was a "miraculous" recovery.

The Hawks had proved adept and conscientious in their share of Roger's treatment. After careful consideration, and in view of Roger's remarkably good recovery, his doctor decided that the boy might be permitted to return home in his parents' care. He could be treated at home, with periodic check-up and outpatient supervision.

It worked out fine. Mr. Hawk, day switchboard operator for a cab company, gave his nights to care and treatment of his small son. Mrs. Hawk, night waitress in a restaurant, had her days free to devote to the child. Small Roger has continued his progress, and is now able to walk unaided.

The Hawks, about the happiest parents in Baltimore today, credit Kernan's Hospital staff and the Maryland Chapter of the National Foundation with Roger's recovery. They are in turn credited with their share in the "miracle."

The year-round work of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis and its Chapters in providing care and treatment for infantile paralysis patients is supported entirely by voluntary contributions to the annual March of Dimes, January 14-31.

Bill Cunningham of Newton is State chairman of this national effort to prevent a dread disease and to provide the best possible treatment for those recovering from its effects. Thomas V. Cleveland is Newton chairman, assisting him are Mrs. Edgar P. Hay and Mrs. J. Earle Parker, co-chairmen of the Women's Division and the leaders and workers of last year's campaign, which raised some $5,800 as Newton's contribution to the total of $52,705 raised in Middlesex County. Harold A. Wooster, librarian of the Newton Free Library, is in charge of information and publicity. William J. Payne, vice president, Newton National Bank, is treasurer of the Newton campaign.

Women's College To Be Established Here in September

A women's college to be known as the Newton College of the Sacred Heart will be established on the former Schrafft estate at 885 Centre street, Newton, next September by the Religious of the Sacred Heart.

The Schrafft property formerly owned by the estate of the well known candy manufacturer, has already been acquired for the purpose by the order, which now operates the Country Day School of the Sacred Heart at 785 Centre street, on the former Towle estate, a short distance from the site of the proposed college.

The Schrafft residence consists of 38 rooms. The college will open with a freshman class of about 50 girls and will offer a four-year course. The Country Day School of the Sacred Heart is attended by girls ranging from six years to college age. The school is conducted under the direction of Mother Superior Kenney, and has been in its present location since 1926.

The Religious of the Sacred Heart, an order of nuns, was founded in Paris in 1800 by St. Madeleine Sophie and its headquarters are now in Rome.

Mrs. Wood made an earnest plea for the reconversion and rehabilitation fund for the dislocated and suffering peoples of Europe. The Guild, desirous of contributing to that fund, voted to hold a Valentine Dessert Bridge Party in the Church parlors on February 13th. Mrs. Helen Brown accepted the chairmanship for this

Elementary Schools Safety Patrols Meet

On Thursday afternoon, Jan. 10th, at Newton Police headquarters the initial meeting of principals, teachers, and pupils of the fifth and six grades safety patrols, was held. There were about 100 in the group.

The meeting was called to order by Frank M. Simmons, Director of Health, Physical Education, Safety of the Public Schools of the City of Newton, who welcomed the group and challenged their interest in safety work. The following were introduced by the chairman.

Inspector Thomas McEnaney, of the traffic department of Newton Police Department, who spoke on the important factors in school safety patrol work.

Miss Ruth B. Le Doux, Director of Education Division of the Massachusetts Safety Council, who expressed her pleasure in being at the meeting and welcomed the group to safety patrol work. Miss Le Doux stressed the great importance of safety work in the schools throughout the state and that her department was ready to cooperate in every way.

Sgt. Dowling, head of the traffic bureau of the Newton Police department, spoke briefly on the great need for Safety Patrol work in the schools and said his department would train the different schools right on the posts that they would have to operate on.

Inspector Edward Chadwick, of the traffic department of the Newton Police department, spoke briefly citing several illustrations showing why safety is of great importance to all the pupils of the schools.

Mr. Simmons then stated the 10 main objectives in the Safety Education Program of the Schools. Ten objectives that all could accomplish as members of the Safety patrols and be able to help all in their various schools make a part of their lives.

A film was shown by Mr. Winston of the High School Visual Aid division, illustrating how safety is of vital importance in all walks of life.

The meeting concluded with a trip to the Newton District Court building showing this department in operation.

The arrangements for the meeting were under the direction of Sgt. Dowling, of the traffic department of the Newton Police Department and Frank M. Simmons, of the School Department.

Mr. Bryant is keenly interested in young people—evidenced by the fact that he is the guiding spirit of the Newton Youth Canteen, personnel and labor relations manager of the Star Market, a director of the Y.M.C.A. in Newton and active in the work of the Second Congregational Church in West Newton. Following Mr. Bryant's talk, tea will be served. The hostesses will be Mrs. Richard H. Blaisdell, and Mrs. Ben T. Fawcett. A cordial invitation is extended to members and friends of the Auxiliary to attend the meeting.

Lt. Com. White Released from USNR

Lieut. Comdr. Thomas P. White, of Newton, has been released to inactive duty in the United States Naval Reserve after nearly four years' service in the medical corps.

Dr. White, a graduate of Tufts College Medical School, practiced in Boston before he entered the Navy as a lieutenant, junior grade, in February, 1942. After a short period at Newport Naval hospital he reported to the fleet marines at New River, N. C., and later went overseas with them to Samoa, where he spent nine months.

Upon returning to the states, Dr. White spent 21 months at Farragut, Idaho, before reporting to the Naval Air Technical Training Center, his last station. He was promoted to lieutenant commander in July, 1945.

Dr. White, who lives with his wife and son at 58 Vaughn avenue, Newton Highlands, plans to resume his practice in Boston soon.

Alfred E. Fuller Agency Cited

Alfred E. Fuller of the Alfred E. Fuller Agency has been cited as one of the outstanding producers of Lumbermens Mutual Casualty Company by James S. Kemper, chairman, as he announced the 1945 membership list of the Live Members Club, an honorary organization of leading company representatives throughout the country. He has been an agent for the company for over 25 years and received another citation in 1944.

"The fine record of the Alfred E. Fuller Agency in serving the protection needs of Newton deserves recognition," Mr. Kemper said. "The agency has achieved high standards in selection of policyholders, in production, in loyalty to the company and in integrity and service."

Term of membership in the club is one year. The record of each member is carefully reviewed before he is reelected the following year.

"This recognition of my agency by Lumbermens is most gratifying to me," Mr. Fuller said. "Our aim always has been to maintain high standards in the operation of our business and to give outstanding service and protection to our clients."

Mr. Fuller described Lumbermens contributions to the public welfare in providing broader forms of protection and in safety education and accident prevention, particularly Lumbermens present campaign against the alarming increase in injuries and deaths resulting from traffic accidents. That accidents are preventable always has been Lumbermens message, and as a part of its safety program, the company provides safety educational material for every age group, publishes advertisements on the safety theme and promotes safety through fellowships for the training of municipal police officers.

In addition to Saipan, Tinian and Iwo Jima he saw service at Guadalcanal and the Marshall Islands, constantly shunting between the beach and the front lines to see that supplies were reaching his engineers as they spearheaded Marine advances.

Council of P.T.A.'s Hears Suggestions For Improvements

Under the auspices of the School Building Committee of the Newton Council of Parent Teachers Associations, the third of a series of meetings was held Monday evening at the Emerson School, Newton Upper Falls. The program was planned and conducted by the Emerson School and Home Association, Mrs. Louis Marcey, president. Mr. Kenneth Newcomb, chairman of the Emerson Building Committee, acted as chairman for the evening.

Mr. Newcomb first reminded the audience of Step I of the Newton School Building Plan which calls for the replacement of the Williams, Pierce, Claflin, Mason-Bowen and Mason-Rice schools, all of which are obsolete; and the re-conditioning of the Emerson School which is inadequate for educational and community needs. Mr. Newcomb pointed out that the Emerson School is headquarters for perhaps the most extensive programs in community work in the whole of Newton and showed how the antiquated design of the school handicaps all who participate in this work.

Mr. Joseph Randall, principal of Emerson School then outlined very briefly the minimum requirements for making the 40-year old school barely adequate for meeting the needs of the community.

Mr. Randall stressed the need for adequate facilities in the school, not only for educational needs, but for the community activities which are so important for the youth of today.

To show the scope of these community activities in Newton Upper Falls, Mr. Newcomb then introduced the leaders of various recreational and social groups which use the Emerson School for headquarters.

Mrs. Margaret Hills of the Newton Recreation Department gave a complete and interesting report on the classes and social activities planned for children and adults in this community. These projects include adapted crafts, games and simple sewing for children of the 3rd and 4th grades; dressmaking, crafts, classes in baby hygiene and social dancing for the 4th, 5th and 6th grades; and first aid classes, social dancing and games for junior high and high school grades.

Mrs. Joseph Kenny, neighborhood commissioner of the Boy Scouts and Cub director, then pointed out the need of a "decent" place for boys to meet for their activities, stressing the importance of Boy Scout work in the prevention of juvenile delinquency.

Mrs. George Braceland, village chairman for the Brownies and Girl Scouts, reported on the scope of the work of this important group. She spoke of the difficulties of training girls for future homemaking when no facilities are available. With 121 girls registered and as many as 45 in one group, it is easy to understand the handicap of trying to carry on constructive work in one small room which is equipped only with kindergarten chairs, and which even then is not always available for use by the Brownies and Scouts.

Mrs. Raymond Capobianco, president of the Newton Upper Falls Women's Club and Garden Club summarized the program of this group and mentioned the fact that many activities were curtailed because of lack of space for carrying them through. She mentioned in particular the "Young Folks Night" and the "Sons and Daughters Night" had to be abandoned because there was no room large enough to accommodate the audiences, and that work with the children in the kitchen was impossible because of the cramped quarters and inadequate facilities.

Mr. Robert McLaughlin, chairman of the Citizens' Committee, one of the most interesting speakers of the evening, outlined the development of community interest in adolescent and adult social activities as a definite need in combating juvenile delinquency.

Mr. McLaughlin pointed out that many of the heaviest expenses in the city government have been liquidated in the past 10 years, and that the Newton Upper Falls community, as an industrial and residential section, has paid and is willing to pay its share, but that they want the expenditures to serve the community in projects that are well planned, well constructed and well used.

Dr. Harold B. Wooster, Head Librarian of the Newton Free Library, then spoke of the importance of a close relationship between school and library not only for educational reasons but again as an important step in preventing juvenile delinquency. He, too, mentioned his fear lest the library branch be ousted from the Emerson School building because of classroom needs.

Mr. Newcomb after summarizing the preceding reports questioned the advisability of spending the money necessary for as complete a re-conditioning of the school as planned under Step I of the Newton School Building Plan. He then suggested that instead of the re-conditioning plan, it would be more desirable to have a unit consisting of gymnasium and auditorium designed and built as an attachment to the present school, thus overcoming most of the inadequacies and at a decided saving in actual cost.

This unit could be so designed that it would later be an integral part of the new school building, which is planned in one of the later steps in the school building program.

Members of the School Committee and aldermen who were present expressed their surprise at some of the deficiencies which were pointed out, but representatives from some of the other obsolete Newton schools were even more surprised that these officials were unaware of the conditions in the schools. Mr. Francis P. Frazier of the School Committee mentioned that perhaps the children of Newton are paying too high a price for the boast of a low tax rate in Newton, but he and other members pointed out that they were public servants and wished to serve the community in any ways that public sentiment indicated.

Mr. Fred T. Harvey, Chairman of the Building Committee of the Council of Parent Teachers Associations, complimented the Emerson School and Home Association for its splendid presentation of the problem, and suggested that other schools could well study their community needs in this interim period.

when material and labor shortages delay the immediate development of school building plans.

Bill—How much are we going to have this time?
Jane (reading)—"It is reported that the next ration stamp, number 39, will be good for five pounds of sugar beginning January 1. No other sugar stamp will be validated for four months." Dear me!—that's just the same as we have been having. I hoped we'd get a little more.
Bill—Well, honestly, Jane, I wouldn't know that we have any less sugar than we ever did.
Jane—Well, that's good. I've tried to stretch it all I could. Five pounds of sugar for each person for four months means only half a cup for each person a week. For four of us, that's just two cups or one pound a week. I really do put two cups in a jar each Saturday and that has to last us until another Saturday rolls around. If I save a little one week, I have more for the next.
Bill—Ummm, sounds like the way Pop used to dole out my allowance.
Jane—Well, I guess we get along all right. I put karo in coconuts, and honey on fruit, or buy frozen or canned fruit for dessert—molasses has helped out, too, on cereal, and I used some on our baked ham the other day.
Bill—Yes, they are sweetened any way.
Jane—Uh huh, and that saves my sugar ration for baking. I still like sugar better than most substitutes in baking, but I cut it a little in each recipe. I make my sugar measurements scant.
Bill—Men don't gripe about sugar anyway.
Jane—Oh, is that so?
Bill—We don't. Except when we don't get any for coffee. Mac tells me he uses saccharine.
Jane—You can't use up sugar in coffee and have it in your favorite dessert, too! Saccharine is all right. There's no harm in it, but too much makes things taste bitter instead of sweet.
NOTE—Send for booklet, "Baking on Your Sugar Ration."

Rotary Club

Orrin Steele, Commissioner of Conservation, U. S. Department of Agriculture, in Plymouth County gave a talk on "Wild Life" at the meeting of the Newton Rotary Club on Friday at the Brae Burn Country Club.
Mr. Steele spoke of waterfowl in Massachusetts, the life and habits of ducks, and said one of the best ways of keeping ducks out of New England is to have hunters continue to shoot at them. He happened to mention the first day of the season at Plum Island and the ducks that were brought in and about 10% more than that died of lead poisoning afterwards.
After talking about waterfowl, he went on to the Monomy Development which is just off Chatham on the Cape. The Federal Government plans to put a bridge across from the mainland for public bass fishing on half, and to have a waterfowl sanctuary on the other half. This is quite an important development.
The third part of Mr. Steele's talk described just how nature provides for various forms of marine life, describing fish from the egg to the lobster, which was most entertaining. There was a question hour, and the members seemed the most interested in gulls and loons which are protected by the law and are quite a problem in spoiling good fishing.

The final plans for the Clothing Drive were announced at this meeting by Warren W. Oliver. Guests included J. Denise, Jack Duffy, George Wilson, Fred Bacon, Wray R. White, John Glidden, Frank Bishop, Ed Esson, Fred Wood, Ben Louis, and Lt. John D. Eusden, U.S.M.C. now on terminal leave who was presented by his father, Rev. Ray Eusden.

Proparvulis Club To Sponsor Lecture By C. J. Hayes

Newton residents serving on the committee of the Proparvulis Club of Boston sponsoring a lecture by Carlton J. Hayes, Professor History at Columbia University and former Ambassador to Spain, to be held at New England Mutual Hall on Sunday afternoon, February 17, include Miss Marguerite Barry, President of the Club, Mrs. Edward Beecher, Miss Mary Robinson and Miss Kathryn Cusick.
Mr. Hayes, widely known author, and writer of the much-heralded book recently published, "War Time Mission in Spain" will speak on the subject: "Spanish American Relations, Past and Future."
Due to present widespread public interest in relations of the United States and Spain, and Mr. Hayes' unusual background of experience, and particularly because of the current popular discussion concerning his most recent book, it is expected that the lecture will attract a capacity audience. Doors at the New England Mutual Hall will be open at 2:30 on the afternoon of the lecture, which is scheduled for 3:30 and will be preceded by an organ recital. It is suggested that in order to avoid disappointment, interested persons make reservations in advance with members of the committee.

Henry M. Parlee, Game Warden, nature lover and sportsman friend was the guest speaker at the Newton Lions Club last week and was introduced by Lion William House who also had as his guest his son, Kenneth. Mr. Parlee told in an informal way, which was most enjoyable, many interesting stories of fishermen and fishes, of hunting and wild life and urged that the sports be indulged in for pleasure and not the lust of killing.

He also mentioned quite a few unintentional acts of sportslovers that aggravate property owners which in turn cause them to "post" their lands; such things as blocking driveways or cattle crossings, or damaging market crops by allowing dogs to run unrestrained, careless use of matches and other such needless acts which can easily be corrected.
President Asa Blakeslee told of plans in progress for a Sea Scout night at which the speaker would be Dolph Samborski, Director of Intramural Athletics at Harvard, and at which Scout Commissioner F. Brittain Kennedy and Sea Scout Commodore Alan M. MacIntire would be present.

Rev. Lion Arthur Block, new Lutheran minister, was welcomed as a new member and Reggie Holmes was greeted on his return to the Club after a prolonged visit at the Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

Before and after the meeting Lion Tamer Jack Tapper put several of the Lions through their "do-re-mi's" in his efforts to build a double quartette.

Thanks to her generosity, the club receives a percentage of each sale, for its charity work.

Mrs. Arthur O'Neill, new member, was warmly welcomed. Announcement was made of the appointment of Mrs. Marshall S. David as Advisor to the Junior Woman's Club. Mrs. J. Earle Parker, of the Newton Federation of Women's Club made a plea for the support of the March of Dimes. Mrs. Parker gave a splendid, detailed account of the distribution of the proceeds of the collections, not only of the 50 per cent which remains in Massachusetts, but the use to which the balance is put in the rest of the country, training of nurses, building of hospitals, etc., for the cure of infantile paralysis.

The program took the form of motion pictures in color, with musical background of "Quaint Quebec, Land of Contrasts". Mr. Arthur Moulton, Lecturer and Traveler was the speaker. Beginning with Montreal, interesting scenes of French life in America were shown, where the old and the new are side by side. Especially interesting were the views of the Indian settlement at Caughpauqua, the habitant life on Ile D'Orleans, the trip on the St. Lawrence and the Saguenay rivers on the palatial steamer Richelieu; the shrine of St. Anne de Beaupre, and the falls of Montmorency, the old world parts of Quebec, Tadousac, and other towns visited by Mr. Moulton, who has made many trips to Canada for these unusual pictures.

The next meeting of the club will be on Tuesday, February 19th.

TIRE RATIONING ENDS

No more certificates! Once again every one is eligible to buy, and soon you'll be able to drive in and get immediate delivery on new tires for your car.

PRODUCTION OUTLOOK AT A GLANCE

Tire manufacturers have been unable to fill the great need for new passenger car tires. In case we do not have the right size tire for your car, we should be able to get it soon. Come in for full information.

HERE'S WHY you'll want the B. F. Goodrich Silvertown OUTWEARS PREWAR TIRES!

It has been proved. More than 2,000 tests and nearly 17,000,000 miles of the toughest kind of road service showed that this new B. F. Goodrich Silvertown will outwear prewar natural rubber tires.
New, better rubber. B. F. Goodrich has developed a rubber that's far better than ordinary synthetics. It helps the new Silvertown wear better and run cooler. It has greater resistance to cracking—and actually stands bruising and damage from acids better.
Tire body 35% stronger. An entirely new, stronger cord is used, more of these cords are used in the top ply, an extra shock-absorbing breaker strip is included. The result: a body that is 35% stronger for additional resistance to bruises, extra blowout protection.

Flatter tread covers more ground. Called the "road level" tread, it puts more rubber on the road, permits all the tread to share the wear. Result: a further increase in mileage, less scuffing, better distribution of weight, better traction, more safety on the turns.
Plus 3 years' EXTRA experience. Three years before any other manufacturer, B. F. Goodrich sold tires containing synthetic rubber to American car owners. The extra know-how piled up in these years is reflected in the new B. F. Goodrich Silvertown.

Newton Red Cross Assists in Blood Plasma Distribution For Civilian Use

"The life-saving miracles wrought by the use of blood plasma on the world's battlefields are now about to have a counterpart in civilian life at home," reports Mrs. C. Terry Collins, Chairman Newton Red Cross Blood Donor Committee.

Under plans announced recently, the 12,250,000 units of plasma declared surplus by the Army and Navy will be made available for civilian use without charge for the product. Present plans call for shipment in the near future of a three month's supply of plasma to each state health department which, in turn, will distribute the product to all recognized hospitals and health agencies and to all persons licensed to practice medicine and surgery within the state.

Plans for distribution of this life-saving substance were worked out in co-operation with the Association of State and Territorial Health Officers, the American Medical Association and the American Hospital Association. Three factors were given special consideration in planning distribution: the need to assist in accurately determining requirements for blood and its derivatives in various parts of the country, the need to strengthen and stimulate already established blood donor programs, and the need to demonstrate the value of such programs and stimulate their establishment.

Mrs. Collins says: "The Newton Blood Donor Committee will co-operate in every way in the State distribution project and will report details of the program at an early date."

The new Commissioner was formally presented to the members by Mrs. Larsen, and she expressed her appreciation of the opportunities now lying before her to follow in the footsteps of the splendid women who had preceded her.

Mrs. Larsen then introduced Mr. John Kingman, Head Worker at both Hale and Lincoln Houses in Boston, whose twenty years with youth gave him a wonderful insight into the problems, the thoughts, the hopes and the fears of young people. He stressed the fact that youth has always been considered "wild" by the older generations, that all persons have been young, and that some of us come very near forgetting. "Group Therapy" is a new phase and one that bears watching and listening to because it is what Girl Scouting, Boy Scouting, Y. M. C. A. and all youth organizations are trying to apply, albeit unconsciously in most instances. Children love to do things together, and instinctively strive for improvement in skills and deportment if properly guided. Mr. Kingman's parting shot was that youth is as bad or as good as adults make it, and that the answer to the horrible phrase "juvenile delinquency" lies in the home, the church and the community.

THESE STUDENTS of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital School of Nursing are receiving instruction in the technique of taking a patient's blood pressure. One student nurse is playing "patient." They first learn the art of nursing by practicing on each other before undertaking actual care of patients under supervision.

Hospital Nurse's School Gives Full Training in Care of Patients

Successful Completion of 3-Year Course Qualifies Student To Take Examination for R.N.

When your doctor sends you to the hospital for treatment, he is thinking only partly of the benefits you will receive there from its extensive scientific equipment. Fully as important in his mind—and in some cases more important than the finest equipment available—is the assurance that you will have the advantage of constant skilled care.

In modern medicine, doctor and nurse have come to be an inseparable team. It is the doctor who diagnoses disease, who prescribes drugs and treatment and who operates when surgery is indicated, but it is the nurse who administers the drugs, who cares for the patient, gives most of the required treatment and who stands beside the doctor to help him in the operating room.

With the tremendous growth of medical science, nurses as well as doctors must know far more than their predecessors of a generation ago. At the nursing

Patrolman Guides Plane to Landing On Playground

A cub plane, unequipped for night flying, which had been circling over the Newton Upper Falls playground for more than half an hour Sunday evening, was guided to a landing by Patrolman Daniel Callahan of the Newton Police Department, who signalled the pilot by means of a flashlight.

The plane on landing struck a bump in the baseball diamond causing the propeller to snap, damaging the wing. The crash attracted a large number of persons to the scene.

William Raught of Hazelhurst, Pa., who was piloting the plane, had rented it from the Burlington - Wilmington Aircraft Company and was on his way back to return it when due to the darkness he was unable to proceed further.

The wrecked plane was taken apart and removed from the playground on Monday by the aircraft company.

Much credit is due Dwight Colburn for his untiring energy and planning.

The Fifth Freedom

Every good American cherishes the Four Freedoms contained in the now-famous Atlantic Charter: Freedom of Speech, Freedom of Worship, Freedom from Want, Freedom from Fear. There is another freedom for which all humanity is fighting: Freedom from Disease.

One of the most feared and most insidious diseases that annually threatens this nation is infantile paralysis. It is high on the list of Public Enemies because its victims are chiefly children under 16.

Infantile paralysis—the Great Crippler—is no respecter of persons. It strikes rich and poor alike, white and black, Catholic, Protestant and Jew.

Through contributions to the March of Dimes, conducted January 14-31 by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, you can help bring the Fifth Freedom closer.

"Never The Twain Shall Meet"

Regardless of whether the majority of people approve or disapprove of existing proposals for this country to adopt state medicine, whereby the Federal government would become the final authority in medical care, one great objection to the proposal cannot be overlooked. State medicine is opposed by the medical profession. If it is pushed down the throats of the doctors against their will, it cannot help but result in lowered medical standards. As one Veterans' Administration authority has pointed out in urging cooperation between that agency and the medical profession, "You can't push a good doctor into anything; he must come in because he wants to be of service. And that's the only kind of doctor we want."

If this is true of the Veterans' Administration, it is most certainly true of a nationwide medical system. Unless the system is supported in the hearts of the doctors who must work under it, it is doomed to failure.

Medical men have just one objective—the highest possible health standards. They will subscribe wholeheartedly to any program that they feel will bring their objective nearer. They do not feel that the goal can be reached by subjecting medicine to the control of government. Government interference has for centuries blocked the scientific and cultural progress of mankind. There is no reason to believe that such interference would bring any happier results now. For this reason alone, the medical profession can never be expected to support socialized medicine—and socialized medicine can never succeed, even in theory, without its support.

Atomic energy may eventually control the weather, we are told. Which would mean government rule, and that's not for us. Unsatisfactory as the weather now is, it would be even worse if the bureaucrats at Washington got hold of it.

Clears Streets, Spreads Sand in Record Time

The clearing of the streets throughout the city following the snowstorm on Monday has received much praise for the quick and efficient way in which it was handled.

Shortly after the storm started early Monday morning, Acting Street Commissioner Harold F.

Young ordered all men and equipment in his department to work with the result that the streets were kept open to travel throughout the day. During the night it was necessary to spread sand to avoid traffic hazards but at the same time other crews were kept busy operating the snow loaders and removing snow from the principal business districts.

President Truman's Address

As I read the varied comments on the recent state of the union message by President Truman, it occurred to me that one thing we need badly is an impartial and completely unbiased board of Washington commentators. The trouble today is that the average Republican comment is apt to be unduly critical and fault-finding and the average Democratic comment is equally biased in favor of anything and everything which the Chief Executive says. There are, of course, a few exceptions to this rule. Certain liberal Republicans will give the President a break and state frankly that he is right on some important issue. Conversely, there are a few Democratic brethren, chiefly from the South, however, who seem glad to take a whack at their leader. In the main, it is a fact that the general public received little, if any, light from the strictly Congressional statements of opinion.

The remedy? Frankly, I do not know. It is obvious, however, that this situation is one of the reasons why so many good citizens decline to enroll in either party. The bulk of the citizens who refrain from voting in party primaries sincerely believe that our two major parties are too narrow and prejudiced in their views. These voters want more breadth of vision, more give and take, more willingness to cooperate with the other party if that party is doing something intelligent and constructive. More about this important subject at a later date.

Now, coming back to President Truman's address for a moment. The chief thing which hit me right between the eyes was Mr. Truman's painfully obvious prejudice in favor of the unions in our current difficulty. As one editorial writer phrased it, the President practically set himself up as a fact-finding board and then announced that the steel workers were entitled to 18½ per cent increase. Just how the President arrived at that conclusion we do not know. Neither do we know just how he determined that the steel industry could afford to pay that increase without serious risk to itself and to its stockholders, to say nothing of the general public, which has a tremendous stake in this entire proposition.

What many of us had hoped to hear from our President was a statement to the effect that it would be only fair for the books of the unions to be opened up for inspection, just as the unions have been insisting that the books of General Motors and others should be opened up. After all, what is sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander. He said nothing at all about this vital issue. Does that mean that he sides with the unions in this matter or does it merely mean that he lacks the courage to state his views, owing to the Congressional elections this coming fall?

Next week I shall have something to say about other parts of his address. A word, though, about his financial remarks. According to Senator Taft of Ohio, who rates as an expert on finance, the budget will NOT be within four billion dollars of being balanced. It will be nearer fourteen billion dollars. Quite a difference, is it not? Why this huge gap? Partly on account of the omission of the loan to Great Britain and partly due to the omission of the cost of the Bretton Woods agreement. Other factors also enter the picture. Here is another instance in which we see the need for some unbiased comment and analysis out of Washington.

Henry Cabot Lodge

At long last the G.O.P. chiefs in this state may breathe more easily. Former Senator Henry Cabot Lodge has announced his definite support of Lt. Governor Robert F. Bradford for Governor. It is barely possible that, by the time this column is being read, there will be other news of equal importance. In other words, the former Beverly Senator may disclose his plans for 1946-1947. Regardless of this possibility, it is helpful to know now that we are in for a clean-cut Bradford-Tobin fight for Governor. This will be a great fight to the finish. In my humble opinion, one of the factors entering into this contest will be the UNO, even though it may seem to many people that this had little to do with the question of good government for Massachusetts. The point is just this: if the UNO decides to locate, either temporarily or permanently in Greater Boston, it will be a feather in Governor Tobin's cap. I more than gladly express my appreciation to him for the fine job he and his efficient committee have done. However, the result of this effort should not be allowed to sway the voters of the state unduly. After all, the chief business of our Governor and our Legislature is strictly the welfare of our citizens, from the standpoint of health, education, industrial opportunity, social and moral welfare and the like. The citizens have a right to expect a sound government, run on a proper financial basis, free from undue graft or corruption or other improper influences. The UNO matter is something else again and is definitely not part of our regular routine business.

In the near future I shall have something to say about the kind of state ticket the G.O.P. should present to the voters this fall.

Weekly Quiz

The first three correct answers to last week's quiz came from the following citizens:—Mr. Arthur C. Johnson, 6 Morton st., Newton; a former teacher in Newton High School; Mrs. Llewellyn A. Marr, 7 Ashmont rd., Waban, and Rep. George E. Rawson, 22 Marlboro st., Newton. Replies were still coming in last Tuesday. Quite a few people took the trouble to state that Roger Sherman though born in Newton, was actually a delegate from Connecticut when he signed the Declaration of Independence. One lady also advised that Sherman was at one time a United States Senator. (This from Mrs. Alex J. Jardine, 106 Charlesbank road, Newton.) Others stated that Sherman was born on April 19, 1721, though this information was not actually required.

This week's question provides a breather. A few weeks from now we will have another hard question. An unusual prize is in the offering. If we have luck. Now, do you know the derivation of the word Massachusetts? Also, what is our state motto and what is the state flower?

Eighty Enroll in Legion Auxiliary

At their meeting held in the War Memorial Building, Newton Centre on Wednesday evening, January 16, Newton Unit, American Legion Auxiliary reported an enrollment of more than 80 members toward their quota of 104. Mrs. Dorothy Patterson, chairman of the membership drive, expressed the hope that the Unit will meet its quota in time to receive a Department citation at the meeting of Middlesex County Council to be held in Melrose on January 26. Delegates to the Council are stir the citizens into putting out more bundles on the following Sunday. The committee wishes to express their thanks to these papers for really turning a failure into a huge success. When the final score has been added it is thought that this year's collection will total 60,000 pounds, or 20% more than was expected, and although no count was made of the bundles nor estimate of the articles collected, those who know how to average such items claim the total exceeds 160,000 garments.

The drive was well organized in this city, eight trucks loaned by the First Service Command having been arranged for by Richard Murphy of the Street Department and his co-chairman, Dwight Colburn. Manned by 42 members of the Rotary Club, 11 Kiwanians, 6 Lions and several volunteers, the trucks made house to house calls gathering the contributions. Follow-up trucks loaned by local business men picked up 136 calls where clothing was put out after the main drive was over. In all 555 man hours were contributed by Newton citizens for this collection.

A large number of Boy and Girl Scouts rang door bells in advance of the arrival of the trucks asking folks to have their bundles ready. The Norumbega Air Scout Squadron was well represented by volunteer workers, Lincoln Good and Sam Clapper. These boys worked 4 afternoons and 2 Sundays with a total of 34 hours each. Credit is also due the school department for distributing instruction sheets to pupils in advance of the drive, to the churches for their pulpit announcements; the Fire Department and the postoffices for receiving bundles; the Chamber of Commerce for the loan of their office and to Miss Adelaide Ball and Mrs. Paul M. Goddard for their work with the women and planning house to house telephone calls, also the volunteer women who manned the phones on Sundays; and to the Red Cross who served the collectors with hot soup, coffee and sandwiches.

Three carloads of used clothing have been shipped to the U. S. Treasury's distribution center where it will be prepared for overseas shipment. Due to the winter now being on the shipments will be speeded up and our foreign friends will receive the benefit this winter of the Newton contributions.

With the many thousands of pickups to be made it was but natural that some were missed some because they were not in plain view or had been put out after the trucks had passed. However from an estimate of phone calls about bundles which were not picked up it is estimated that less than 1/10 of 1 per cent of the calls were missed. To those who were missed in the final check-up the committee suggests that they call one of the several well known and worthy charitable organizations in the Newtons or Boston and ask them to call for their bundle. There are many folks within our own limits who can use surplus clothing.

In a memo to the Graphic, Clapper stated: "I wish to take this opportunity to personally congratulate the Newton Graphic for its generosity in the free publicity given this drive and for the loan of two of its staff, Editor P. O. Ahlin and Mrs. Robert K. Burns, both of whom served on the advisory board and contributed valuable advice and service to this campaign. Without such cooperation such a tremendous task during such trying weather would not have gone over the top so well."

The President, Miss Margaret McPherson, Mrs. Mary Farrell and Mrs. Esther Faherty. Plans were completed at this meeting for a Spaghetti Supper to be held in the City Hall Cafeteria on February 5. Mrs. Millie Noel is chairman of the arrangement committee. Following the meeting a group of members led by President McPherson attended the joint installation of Newton Post, Jewish War Veterans and Auxiliary.

The orchestra is composed of fifty musicians, who play for recreation and the love of fine music. It was founded by Mr. J. Mr. Pinfield, a member of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, has been the conductor of the High Pines Orchestra since its founding. He has always preferred to confine the concert performance to locations outside Boston and not attempt to compete with other similar orchestral groups or professional performances in Boston.

The program is particularly well chosen and includes works by Handel, Mozart and Schubert. The men of Eliot Club believe that this is an undertaking of the highest order and deserves all the support the Community can give to it.

Did it go for a celebration, that hat you'd had your eye on, a musical comedy, a box of candy for your best girl—or did you realize the full significance of what it meant to be earning your own money for the first time? If you did, chances are you saved that dollar, started a bank account with it, and watched it grow and multiply through the years.

Those who have set aside a small amount of money regularly each week in a mutual savings bank can tell you how quickly the dollars add up. Systematic saving now will bring within your reach the important things in life every man and woman wants. Isn't that worth saving for?

ON THE INSIDE

by MARV GOULD

Many students of the Senior Class of Newton High School have heard about the new bill which is pending before the Executive Council of the Senior Class. This bill is best summarized by Bob Frank, the author of the bill, in the following editorial which appeared in the "Newtonite," the official "mouthpiece" of N.H.S. "A plan has now been put before the Senior Class which will provide for a reunion every two years for the first four years after graduation, then, one every five years thereafter. These gatherings will be exclusively for the class of 1946 and would be managed by the Senior Class officers. Many of the High Schools and colleges have incorporated this plan with great success. Why can't we? After graduation we originally would say good bye to many of our friends, perhaps forever. By this plan we can, every five years have a banquet, talk over old times together, and have some entertainment or speaker: the cost, naturally, would be paid by those who attend and not the class treasury. Now, would many people attend? Experience has shown that classmates look forward to this event with enthusiasm and expectancy. If only three out of every ten came there would be about 240 present. A goodly number." If the students have their say the bill will be passed. But the question is will the majority of the students have their say? I doubt it.

Speaking of the N.H.S. legislature a bill was passed in that body last week which provided a new letter award system for Newton's female athletes. Now any girl who is an outstanding athlete will be awarded a large letter instead of the former felt letter which was only about three inches square. Now N.H.S. lotharios can spot an athletic femme without using an Orange Book. This year's Newtonian will have caricatures of N.H.S. outstanding students within its pages for one of the first times in the history of this book. The artist who is drawing these caricatures is Sylvia Gruber. Incidentally the Editor of this year's year book is none other than Lee Tyler who formerly wrote the column "Teen Age," with yours truly, which used to appear instead of "On The Inside," in this paper.

Hank Fitzpatrick, ace hockey defense man has returned to the boys' chorus by popular demand. That's if one would call the hockey team "popular demand" . . . Dick Melick and Eugene Tappan, two of last year's outstanding class officers, returned to visit the alma mater last week. Dick was home on 17 days leave from Parris Island where he is a Naval Medical Corpsman . . . Dave Rosenberg was home from the U.S.N.R. last week. Dave was in charge of the stage crew before he entered the Navy last year . . . Johnny Recco, ace first sacker of last year is now stationed with the U. S. Army of occupation in Germany . . . Bob DiBlasio of track, and hockey fame was also home last week.

Memorial services were held at Saint Paul's Church recently for Sergeant William Osborne who died of wounds in a Japanese prison camp. Before enlisting in the service the former Mr. Osborne was a member of Newton's Fire Department.

The "15 Up" club of Newton will present the play "Yours Truly" at Whitney Hall, Thursday, February 21. The play promises to be good as the cast consists of experienced actors as Bob Frank, of Senior Play fame.

Remember, readers, do all in your power to have the reunion bill previously mentioned in this column passed. Tell your sons and daughters and friends who attend N.H.S. to ask their representatives in the legislature to vote for this new bill.

pervision of experienced graduate nurses and doctors of the hospital's staff. To this apprentice training, however, is added a complete foundation in the sciences that underlie medicine, a foundation acquired in extensive classroom, lecture and laboratory work.

Before a first year student nurse at the school goes on actual hospital duty she must have passed successfully through an intensive twenty-two week pre-clinical training course. This covers the basic anatomy and physiology of the human body, fifty-five hours of instruction in chemistry and a similar course in microbiology, with special attention to the micro-organisms which cause human disease. There are also, during this period, shorter courses in nutrition, the history and ethics of nursing, and psychology.

Meanwhile the student is getting her first experience in the "art of nursing," the basic principles and essential techniques of nursing. Working in the nursing laboratory, which is a miniature hospital ward with dummy patients, she is taught such simple-sounding but actually difficult procedures as bedmaking and the bathing of patients as well as the methods of administering important treatments. Soon after she has begun this training, it is supplemented by actual experience in the hospital where she aids in the care and treatment of patients under the guidance of registered nurses.

About the middle of her first year in the school, the student is assigned to regular duty in one of the hospital wards or departments. Her coursework in this term includes courses in pathology, pharmacology, diet therapy and the special problems of medical and surgical nursing. In the latter course, her study of various diseases in class is supplemented by actual experience in caring for patients suffering from similar illnesses.

The work of the second year is devoted mainly to gaining proficiency in medical and surgical specialties, including care of patients with communicable diseases and those requiring orthopedic nursing. Special attention is given to the techniques of operating room nursing and pre-operative and post-operative care and to obstetrical and pediatric nursing.

In the last year of training, the student nurse receives further experience in applying the principles she has been taught, including obstetrics and pediatric nursing. She may also be gradually introduced to first level graduate responsibilities under close supervision.

The Newton-Wellesley Hospital School of Nursing is an important community asset. Each year in peacetime it graduates about thirty-five expert nurses who are then available for special nursing or, with advanced preparation, for more responsible duties in the hospital or for public health work.

An important phase of the current $2,250,000 expansion program of the hospital is the enlargement of the nursing school. Two floors with rooms for 56 students will be added to the building and the ground floor will be entirely reconstructed to give more space for the laboratories and classrooms which at present are crowded. When completed, the expansion will permit the school to operate more effectively with resulting benefits to patients of the hospital, most of whom receive care from graduates and students of the Newton-Wellesley school.

H. P. Hood & Sons Award Prizes in Slogan Contest

Prizes totaling approximately $2,000 were awarded today to some 86 New England employees of H. P. Hood & Sons, distributors of dairy products throughout New England, following the close of a slogan contest held among the company's 5,000 employees, in connection with the opening of its 100th anniversary year in 1946.

These awards—the opening feature of the company's birthday year—are the first of a series of projects designed for 1946, to benefit both the New England communities served by Hood's, and the company-employees.

The winners were selected by a group of advertising specialists from a field of 1,000 contestants who submitted slogans appropriate for the company's 100th anniversary.

Winner of the first prize of $500 was Mr. Thomas A. Leonard, Brookline, manager of Hood's Boston Retail Milk Branch.

Four of the six prizes of $100 each, went to Massachusetts residents: Frank W. Ponton, Somerville; George G. Walker, Arlington; Gordon E. Pipe, Worcester, and Isabel R. Miller, Falmouth.

The other two winners of $100 prizes were: Thomas Reid, Auburn, Maine, and Kenneth C. Douglas, Bridgeport, Vermont.

Among some 79 prizes of ten dollars each, awards were presented to the following Newton residents: Lawrence J. O'Loughlin, 472 Waltham street, West Newton, and Harry W. Abells, 331 Kenrick street, Newton.

Army Answers

Q. Is a soldier who left Italy on September 1945 entitled to claim any medal, honor or insignia to indicate occupation in Europe? C. M. Woodville.

A. He may wear the theatre ribbon, but the War Department has not yet authorized any World War II occupation ribbons.

Q. In 1943 I signed up as a member of the Auxiliary to the Military Police and served as a plant guard. My service terminated in 1944 when I received a Certificate of Meritorious Conduct. Am I entitled to wear the Victory Medal? Has there been any decoration authorized for such service? J. H. Waltham.

A. Only eligible service personnel are permitted to wear the Victory ribbon. Since this is civilian service, you are not permitted that privilege.

Q. I have been discharged. If I re-enlist, am I entitled to benefits under Soldiers and Sailors Civil Relief Act, and if so, how long? C. H. New Bedford.

A. You will be entitled to benefits of this Act from the time of entering active service until date of discharge, or until the Act ceases to be in force.

Q. I have been honorably discharged from the WAC for two weeks and would like to know if there is any way I can re-enlist and go back to my old post in N. Y.? M. P., New Bedford.

A. The Women's Army Corps has not accepted enlistment since September 1945. There is no authorization for a permanent WAC, and no provisions to re-enlist.

Q. Please let me know in Army answers, just where the 19th Fleet is stationed, and if it's to be there always. And is the Thaddeus Parker DE 369 or DE 368 due in the States shortly? E. F. D., Providence.

A. Suggest you contact First Naval District, 150 Causeway street, Boston, Mass., for information pertaining to the Navy.

Q. I have not heard from my husband for 10 days since he left the United States and I am very worried since he has written regularly during his 8 months of service. Why don't I get mail? J. C., Bridgeport.

A. A month is not an unusual time to wait when a man has left for overseas. Suggest if you do not hear within the next month that you write a letter of inquiry to his Commanding Officer.

Q. Our son will be 18 on April 20, 1946. Due to a transfer in schools, there is some question as to whether he will have sufficient credits to graduate from preparatory school in June. If he does not, how much additional time under present directives to the Selective Service Board would he probably be granted to accumulate the necessary credits for graduation? C. E. H., Brattleboro.

A. If your son did not complete high school before enrolling in preparatory school, he may continue until graduation, providing he entered the school before age 18, remains in good standing, and providing he is not over 20 years of age before graduation.

Q. Can you tell me approximately when the 709th M. P. Battalion, Co. D, will come home? My brother who is in it.

A. The return date of this citation.

Over 75 Percent of Troop Ships Equipped With Raytheon Radar

Radar—one of the most decisive weapons of war, is now playing an equally important part in the return of troops to the United States. Approximately 75.6 per cent of troop-transport ships are now equipped with Raytheon radar, and it is expected that this figure will be increased to nearly 100 per cent (or 500 ships) during January, 1946.

Among the ships equipped are the George Washington, Santa Rosa, Ernie Pyle, John Ericsson (ex-Kungsholm), Explorer and Argentina.

Radar eliminates the delays caused by bad weather or poor visibility. A pencil-sharp beam constantly searches the area all around the ship, giving a map-like presentation on the radar indicator of anything that falls within its range. Other ships, icebergs, buoys... even driftwood, are spotted with an accurate indication of their bearing and distance off. It is estimated that the return of troops has already been speeded up by the use of radar.

With the defeat of Germany, our military leaders were faced with the problem of redeploying great numbers of troops to the Pacific and to the United States in the shortest possible time. As a navigational aid in hastening the redeployment, an ideal radar for use on troop-transport ships was found in the model SO-1 and SO-8 systems produced by Raytheon Manufacturing Co. of Waltham, Mass. These two models, which were produced in greater quantity than any other model of shipborne radar, have been battle-tested in all parts of the globe, earning a reputation for accuracy and dependability.

In setting up the troop-transport radar program, the three agencies involved—the Army, Navy and War Shipping Administration—established an almost impossible schedule. Installations were scheduled so speedily that ships were not to be held in port beyond the normal "turn-around" time, and thus the transporting of troops was not delayed. During the war, a fast installation required about seven days; but now, thanks to close cooperation between the three government agencies, the Raytheon Field Engineering Group, and the private contractors, the same job is usually completed by assembly-line methods in less than four days.

Radar has, to a great extent, eliminated the necessity for reducing speed during periods of poor visibility and for waiting outside of harbors for fog to lift.

Radar as a navigational aid is a benefit, although there was an extraordinary safety record in transporting millions of returning American and Allied troops across the Atlantic and Pacific at a record-breaking schedule without radar. No troop-transport accident has ever occurred on ships equipped with SO-1 or SO-8 radar.

To illustrate, the safety afforded our troops by equipping transports with radar, at least one disaster was averted by the efficient use of radar during and following the recent storms in British waters. Official Army reports indicate that the Rensselaer Victory, the India Victory, and the Kokomo Victory, ships that normally carry 1,500 or more troops, spotted, on their radar indicators, floating mines that had broken loose during the storm, and thus on several occasions were able to change course in time to prevent a collision and certain disaster.

In order to give the American Merchant Marine the same protection afforded to the officers and men of the Navy, and to troops now being returned home, Raytheon is building several models of radar designed especially for the merchant fleet. This simplified navigational radar features ease of operation and compact design. Any deck officer will be able to handle Raytheon radar with nominal instructions. All the improvements in the Merchant Marine radar have been achieved without sacrificing the advantages of the Raytheon Navy type equipment.

Newton Residents Win Prizes in Hood's Contest

Prizes totalling $2500 were awarded today to 100 New England women by H. P. Hood & Sons, distributors of dairy products throughout New England, following the close of a recipe contest to gather time-tested New England family recipes, in connection with the company's 100th anniversary year in 1946.

More than 200 housewives all over New England—consumers of Hood's dairy products took time out to copy from great-grandmother's faded script, tasty dishes treasured in their families for generations. A colorful thumbnail sketch of its origin accompanied each dish.

A board of judges composed of Mrs. R. M. Koon, nutritionist for the Watertown, Mass. District Nursing Association; Miss Mary Foley, Extension nutritionist at Massachusetts State College; Miss Dorothea Nicoll, nutrition superintendent, Massachusetts State Department of Health; and Miss Gretchen McMullen, who owns her own trial testing kitchen, selected the winning entries after testing and re-testing each recipe submitted.

The 100-winning recipes, accompanied by a story of their history and origin, will be incorporated in an attractively illustrated volume entitled: "Foods That Made New England Famous." These cookbooks will be distributed primarily among Hood employees and consumers.

The bulk of the awards, 71, went to Massachusetts women; the remaining 29 were evenly divided among Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Rhode Island and Connecticut.

Among winning recipes prized for generations by New England families are regional and local dishes like Green Mountain Parsnip Stew, Gloucester Fish Chowder, New England Smoked Fish Chowder, Agawam Raised Cakes, Nantucket Raised Cakes.

Also included are a pudding quaintly called "Syllabub," Great Grandmother Appleby's Spice Cake; Strawberry Dumplings; Swamp Yankee Apple Sauce Cake; Phebe's Delicate Cake. There is even Boiled Cake and Pork Cake, and numerous recipes for pies, entrees, doughnuts, salads, relish, ginger breads, mince-meat, soups, bread, cakes, cookies and puddings.

Newton residents who were awarded prizes of $25 each were: Mrs. H. Gardner Frothingham, 79 Kenwood avenue; Mrs. Katherine P. Nagle, 208 Homer street, Mrs. Robert B. Snow, 16 Hinckley road; Mrs. S. F. Tower, 63 Perkins street.

Cold Weather Hints For Animals

Timely advice on the care of animals during the approaching winter months was issued yesterday by Dr. Erwin F. Schroeder, Chief of Staff of the Angell Memorial Animal Hospital of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, 180 Longwood avenue, Boston.

Dr. Schroeder pointed out that animals, like human beings, suffered as a result of extreme cold weather, and should be given careful attention. "Horses in particular," he said, require special consideration during the winter. They should not be forced to carry too heavy loads, especially when pavements are slippery, due to ice and snow. Furthermore, these creatures should be properly blanketed if they are required to stand longer than ten minutes in below-freezing temperature, though they should not be covered while in motion.

"It is equally important, in winter as in summer," declared the veterinarian, "that dogs be given the necessary amount of regular, outdoor exercise for their well-being, although such exercise periods should be shortened in the event of stormy weather."

If allowed to remain outdoors too long in the cold, Dr. Schroeder stated that long-haired dogs, particularly, were liable to suffer from serious frost bites as a result of snow and ice becoming impacted between their pads. "For this reason," he concluded, "all dog-owners are cautioned to examine carefully their pets feet after exercising them in the snowy weather, in order to preclude the possibility of these painful frost bites."

A list of cold-weather "Don'ts" was suggested by the Angell Memorial Animal Hospital for all animal-owners:

DON'T overload work horses.
DON'T race horses on slippery pavements.
DON'T fail to blanket horses when standing longer than ten minutes in below-freezing temperature.
DON'T blanket horses while in motion.
DON'T give horses too cold water.

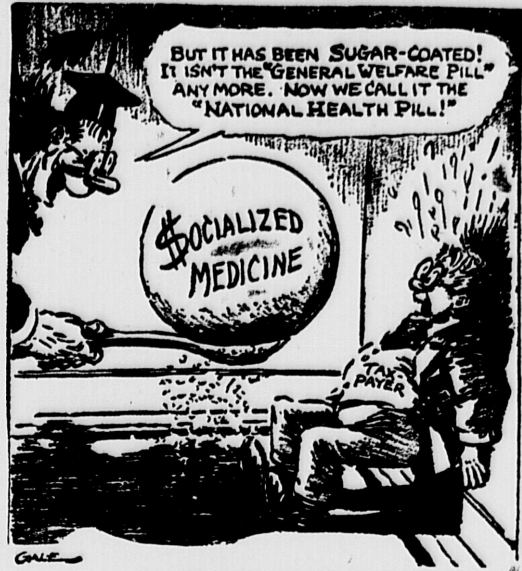

DON'T allow dogs to chase automobiles.
DON'T tie dogs outdoors without providing kennel or suitable shelter.
DON'T permit cats or dogs to remain outdoors overnight.

Keeping in step with the nation-wide March of Dimes drive the pupils and teachers of Day contributed $70.10 to aid in the control of infantile paralysis. Miss Louise Paul and Mr. Alden Read of the faculty were in charge of the publicity for this campaign.

At the Ninth Grade Class meeting held on Friday, January 17, the group voted to accept the constitution as read by Douglas Duff, president. Robert Pettys then announced "Day" Day at the Student Canteen on Jan. 30. Ninth graders are invited to attend on that date. Admission 10c. The coming ninth grade dance was next discussed and February 15 selected as the date. To avoid confusion it was decided that all opinions and other suggestions be given to home room representatives.

An interesting and instructive bulletin board prepared by 9-LA under the supervision of Mrs. Lois Vuyonovich was on display in the main corridor this week. Sylvia Bernard, a member of this group, reports that "as a result of their study of classical mythology, they illustrated the classics in everyday life." Eva Geiringer and Nancy Shea represented the classics in sketches. Mary Jean Stokes in the animal kingdom, Hans Hagen in classical architecture, and Janet Martin in astronomy. Sylvia Bernard showed that music, especially operas, is strongly influenced by the classical myths. Since this study, the class has become aware of the fact that everyone should know about the Greek and Roman stories as well as the classics because there are so many references to them in art, advertising, music, literature, and many other fields which make up our everyday life.

The Projector's Club, sponsored by Mr. Walter Sears, will meet Monday, January 21, in Room 11. Mr. Russell V. Burkhard, principal, will be the guest speaker and will talk on "Things Ahead in Visual Education." Eighth and ninth grade girls who may be interested in learning to operate the movie projector are invited to attend.

The Volley Ball Tournament for girls ended this week with Room 21 taking top honors. Two Rooms, 30 and 28, tied for second place with three wins and two losses.

Twenty-eight pupils attended the Symphony concert this week with Mr. Vincent Jurgeliewicz, director of music. The group enjoyed the playing of Beethoven's "Fifth Symphony," Ponchielli's "Dance of the Hours," and a very special number written by Saint-Saens for the orchestra and solo cello. The conductor, Mr. Beckett, told the group some of the interesting facts about the composers and the instruments which make up the orchestra. Those attending were: John Ward, Harriet Sears, Sally Coan, Betsy Webber, Nancy Cragin, Sylvia Bernard, Libby Duffon, Patsy Caswell, Robert Eastman, Nancy Campbell, Leon Martel, Richard Millard, Hans Hagen, Ann Burnham, June Boulter, Joanne Gazi, Lorraine Arcese, Dorothy Wansker, Virginia Benson, Daniel Lewin, Donald Cassidy, Carol MacDonald, Jane Beach, Sally Bondi, Cynthia Waterhouse, Louis McMurrier, Frank Lord, Robert Gifford.

Ford Company Renames Newest Assembly Plant

Dearborn, Mich.—Ford Motor Company today bowed to tradition in renaming its newest Lincoln-Mercury assembly plant on the outskirts of Metuchen, N. J. The company attributed it to Indian lore.

Because "Metuchen" (the Indians spelled it Metuchee) was a New Jersey tribesman of no mean repute, and because the town where the plant will rise was named in his honor, Ford officials deemed it a fitting appellation for the plant, and have notified Mayor Walter C. Christensen and other township officers. The Indian name stood for "rolling land" and aptly pictures the new plant's geographical setting.

The Metuchen project, part of the Ford company's $175,000,000 post-war expansion, originally was given the name "Raritan" for the township in which it is located. Construction goes forward on schedule, reports say. A second Lincoln-Mercury plant will go up on an unannounced site near Los Angeles.

I Have Returned

You, in the halls of Congress: Are you afraid, To keep each solemn promise that you made; Or will you turn upon me now and trade, My tomorrow for your selfish ends?

You leaders, who guide labor on its way, What of your promise on that other day, The blood that I have shed... Is this my pay? God pity each of you is all that I can say.

You, captains of the mart and industry, Hold to your dollar and your dynasty; Bow low to Mammon... What of me? The sands run low.

I vow that as my bayonet steel turned red, Above the bodies of my comrades who lie dead; Upon those years of mine which lie ahead... You shall not conquer.

My ballot will replace the gun,
My voice in labor has but just begun;
The day of exploitation now is done,
I have returned!

Kiwanis Club

At the meeting of the Newton Kiwanis Club held at the Newton Y.M.C.A. on Wednesday, January 16, Acting Street Commissioner Harold F. Young gave a talk on the work of the Newton Street Department, in plowing out the 277 miles of Newton streets when severe snow storms occur.

After every heavy snow storm he stated the city does 1800 miles of plowing. The 277 miles of streets are divided into 48 routes with a fixed number of trucks assigned to each route. The department maintains a system of runners to check on manpower and mechanical failures and report to headquarters every two hours. A new snow loader recently purchased by the city, he said, will fill a truck in 48 to 54 seconds.

Many changes and reforms are anticipated Commissioner Young stated and new equipment is to be purchased. He concluded his talk by saying "Service is the motto of the Street Department, which is well geared to render it to Newton."

President William H. Sullivan conducted his first meeting since his installation. Other new officers, who assumed their duties were: Benjamin F. Louis, immediate past president; Dr. Ernest A. Marcoux, first vice-president; Frank J. Battles, second vice-president; Walter A. Hood, treasurer; Harold T. Pillsbury, secretary; James B. Riggs, Nicholas Vedeuco, Cady K. Peck and Frank Lombardi, directors.

James B. Riggs, chairman of the inter-club visiting committee, announced that the Newton club would on this week visit Wellesley at the Blacksmith's Shop.

Among the guests were the Rev. Otis R. Heath of Leominster, a former member, and Ira M. Conant of Boston.

Scouts To Hold Annual Winter Camporee January 26 and 27

The Annual Winter Camporee for the Scouts of Norumbega Council will take place January 26 and 27 at Nobscot Reservation in Sudbury. All of the 23 Troop Cub Scouts on the Reservation will be occupied by Scouts prepared to do real winter camping. Mr. Walter N. Howe, Senior, is the Camporee Chief, and he will be assisted by a Committee of Judges from Newton and Wellesley.

The Camporee program will include an evening Camp Fire Saturday night when the Scouts and their Leaders will gather by the fire at Legion Cabin to sing songs and take part in Scouting contests of skill; Sunday morning a Scouts' Own Church Service will be conducted by the Reverend Robert W. Woodroffe, Jr., Rector of Grace Episcopal Church in Newton; and Mass will be held by Father Martin Dolphin, Chaplain for Scouts of Catholic faith in Newton.

A feature of the weekend program will include a demonstration of an actual dog-sled team with real huskies.

The Winter Camporee is one of the many time-honored traditions of Norumbega Council. Representative Patrols of the Troops of Newton and Wellesley will compete during the two-day camp. The various Patrols will be judged very carefully throughout the weekend for winter camping skill—cooking ability; cleanliness; promptness in meeting schedule; sanitation (personal as well as cabin utensils and bunk); ingenuity in making use of facilities at hand in winter weather with snow on the ground; and other phases of Scout Craft.

The Patrols will be rated A, B, and C. Pennant awards will be made to all A and B awards at the Council Court of Honor to be held on Scouting's thirty-sixth birthday, February 8, at the Levi Warren Junior High School, West Newton.

THE FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST

"Truth" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read in the Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts, and in all of its branches, on Sunday, January 27.

The Golden Text, "The Lord is good; his mercy is everlasting; and his truth endureth to all generations" is from Psalms 100:5. Other Bible citations include, "O send out thy light and thy truth: let them lead me; let them bring me unto thy holy hill, and to thy tabernacles" (Psalms 43:3).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, "The spiritual sense of truth must be gained before Truth can be understood. This sense is assimilated only as we are honest, unselfish, loving, and meek. In the soil of an 'honest and good heart' the seed must be sown; else it beareth not much fruit, for the swinish element in human nature uproots it" (p. 272).

Rotary Club

Alderman Donald Gibbs was the speaker at the Newton Rotary Club meeting held at the Brae Burn Country Club on Friday.

Speaking on the "Parking Problems in Newton" Alderman Gibbs stated:

"Even as early as 1920 traffic was a problem in Newton. In 1935 the E.R.A. conducted a survey with certain recommendations which were adopted, except for that pertaining to off-street parking, which is the greatest need of the present day. He described many details of the problem in relation to opportunities for off-street parking. We have three types of users of parking places, the shopper, the owner and worker who has to drive to business center and needs his car in his business, and the commuter who has to park near transportation facilities and leave his car all day.

Quoting figures for 1941, there were 29,000 cars registered, and the parking problem was acute. At the rate of growth in Newton by 1955 there will be 42,000 cars, so if we don't do something about parking we will be in a terrible jam. There are less than 1000 spaces for off the street parking, both public and private, in this area. He went on to describe the number in the different villages. West Newton, he believes, has adequate parking places, 238 public spaces and a few private, the only problem being space near the station for all day parking.

The Police Department made a study and checked cars parked in the various business districts. The all day parking is quite a problem, takes 24% of the available curb parking, which makes a serious condition in shopping centers. Angle parking is still another problem. It impedes the flow of traffic and causes accidents.

Two spaces about to be opened in Newtonville, which together held 225 cars, should solve the congestion in Newtonville Square for a few years. These spaces are as follows: Back of library on Highland avenue to Walnut place and space bounded by Austin street, Walnut street, and Highland avenue. Like treatment is hoped for in Newton Centre, West Newton, and Newton. These findings are largely from the Committee on Off-Street Parking, Newton Board of Aldermen.

Edward Rose, president of the Rose-Derry Mattress Company, who was introduced by Sam Berger was inducted at this meeting by Past President Orville Clapper.

Guests included Clayton Fairbanks, George Mahoney, Fred Bailey and Dan Komisky, all of Needham; James Esson, Boston, F. S. Bacon, Watertown, G. T. Wilson, guest of Roger Gordon, George Grant, guest of Joe Davis, H. W. Robinson, guest of A. G. Robinson, Major Alden Somerby, guest of Dr. E. P. Leonard.

Junior Achievement Group Is Active in Newton

By MARVIN R. GOULD

One crisp sunny morning Mr. Horace Moses, a Springfield, Mass., manufacturer was walking to work when he saw a group of young fellows sitting lazily on a curbstone. Mr. Moses thought to himself, "why should a group of healthy boys be sitting around doing nothing when they could be running a business." He then took the boys to his plant and he soon had them running a small business sponsored by his company. Thus, the first Junior Achievement group was started. Almost immediately the idea spread throughout the nation and a group of New York businessmen put Junior Achievement on a nationwide scale.

Four Former Scouts Relate War Experiences at Annual Camporee

John J. Boland Is Officially Declared Dead

Chief Ph. Mate John J. Boland, 29, husband of Mrs. Helen Boland of Newton Centre, who for nearly two years has been reported as missing, has now been declared dead by the Navy Department.

He was a member of crew of the submarine Trout which was listed as missing in April 1944. He was born in East Bridgewater and attended the Bridgewater schools. He entered the navy in 1934 and joined the submarine service in 1943.

Besides his wife he leaves his father, James Boland of East Bridgewater.

Fifty adult Scouting Leaders and 130 Boy Scouts were encamped at Nobscot Reservation in Sudbury on January 26 and 27 for the annual 1946 Winter Camporee. Norumbega Council promotes outdoor activities and camping throughout the year. The Winter Camporee is a two-day competitive project, when selected Patrols from the Troops of Newton and Wellesley compete against high standards of Winter Camping. Throughout the two-day camp Patrols are entirely under the leadership of a Scout Patrol Leader—housed in the various Troop cabins on Nobscot Reservation. An adult Scouting Leader is quartered with each Patrol as a guest—not providing leadership however. A committee of 25 Judges, headed by Chief Judge Walter

Electrocardiogram Valuable Aid to Physician in Diagnosis

One of the most modern and useful tools that doctors have for the diagnosis of heart conditions is the electrocardiograph instrument in which electrical and optical principles are utilized to "take a picture" of the heart's action. This apparatus, which is standard equipment in all well-equipped hospitals, is used many hundreds of times a year by the doctors of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital staff.

The electrocardiogram owes its existence to two natural phenomena, one biological and the other physical. The biological phenomenon is the fact that muscle produces energy in the process of contraction, and about one one-hundred thousandth part of this energy produced takes the form of electricity. This extremely small amount of electrical energy (less than one one-thousandth of a volt) can be measured by means of the second or physical phenomenon, which is the fact that if a very fine wire is suspended between two magnets, passage of an electric current through the wire cause it to change its position in relation to the magnets.

Since the movements of the wire are always in the same plane of direction but vary in extent with the amount of current passing through it, such a wire and magnet arrangement can be used to measure the amount of electricity present. This is called a "string galvanometer." Since the movements of the wire or "string" are minute, a microscope is focused on the wire. Also, because the wire moves very rapidly, taking about four one-hundredths of a second for each wriggle, it is easier to have the wire cast a shadow on a moving photographic film for later study than to examine it visually. The whole apparatus consisting of a string galvanometer, a microscope, a strong light and a moving film, is called an electrocardiograph, and the picture taken is called an electrocardiogram.

It has been found that it is not necessary to attach wires to the heart itself in order to collect the electricity produced by the heart beat. A plate, or electrode, placed on wet skin also will collect the current from the heart. By trial and error, it has been found that if the pair of elec-

Somebody's Forgotten

One trouble with the theory that buying power can be increased merely by boosting wages is that it forgets the people who do not live by wages.

The only effect they feel is the higher prices that sudden wage boosts help bring about.

A large portion of Americans do not live by wages. Farmers are a good example. So are doctors, dentists, lawyers, and those who run small shops and stores.

Even more seriously affected are such people as ministers, teachers, and government employees of all kinds—and the millions of men and women who live on insurance benefits, pensions, or life savings.

Their buying power does not go up. It goes down.

The fact is, the rising prices that follow general wage increases tend to eat up even the gains that wage earners seem to have made.

There are about a dozen sides to these wage-demand strikes—and they should not be forgotten.

Letters to the Editor

To The Editor, Newton Graphic:

I was pleased to see your notice that the Newton Centre Improvement Association has given to the Mayor, and the Board of Aldermen a petition for the acquisition of the old ice house property facing upon Crystal Lake and Norwood Avenue, Newton Centre for Park Purposes.

This proposition has been talked about for quite a long time and now the war is over there should be action to do the right thing for the residents of Newton Centre.

Crystal Lake as you probably know is historic in many ways as one can see if they will look up the Histories of Newton. The history goes back to the early settlers and is exceedingly interesting. There is a book written by the late Chairman of the Board of Assessors of Newton, Henry Bailey giving an interesting account of this water open space. Before the automobile transportation and the close friendship of all the residents in this vicinity as well as the rest of the City there was the most interesting Fourth of July celebrations upon the lake. This was done under the supervision of the Improvement Association who collected the money for the celebration.

Now this same Improvement Association are at work with a larger number of members and have definitely moved to make this a public open space. We need this open space and it should be acquired right away. With the increasing business buildings in the center of the historic section will mean a relief to many workers as well as residents, a place for children and mothers with baby carriages, men and women who want to rest a part of their noon hour and as a lovely outlook of the nature lovers who live in this growing community. The Planning Board in their report of last year recommended this project and have done so again this year, they all feel that if the Mayor would recommend the project and the Board of Aldermen look into this matter, that they will see that there will be no eventual loss of revenue to the City from taxes and the increased values from the adjoining properties will far offset the cost.

The Editor:

An article from the January 10th edition of the Graphic entitled "Politics With Color" has just been brought to our attention, and in Mr. Herter's absence from Washington I am taking the liberty of writing to you since I do not know the writer of this article. I feel very sure that Mr. Herter would want to express his appreciation for what seems to me to be a very clear understanding and statement of the dilemma of the junior Republican member of Congress. You might be interested to know that the mail Mr. Herter has received since the President's message bears out the contention of the writer of this article. Hundreds of letters have come in, the majority of them extremely thoughtful and well written, but they are almost equally divided pro and con the President's proposals, and as your writer suggests, many people seem to agree on some points and disagree on others. I have seen little indication, however, of any understanding that the Committee system itself may be to blame for much of the trouble, and I think your writer is to be congratulated for pointing that out. As he says, there is almost nothing that a minority member of Congress can do with respect to bringing out bills or even urging that hearings be held. I am very sure that Mr. Herter would appreciate your writer's sympathetic understanding of this point.

Most sincerely yours,
Harriet A. Conel,
Secretary.

Nothing in a Name

A man who was called "Colonel" by pretty nearly everyone in the community, although he had never served in the Army, was being heckled by a lawyer who wanted to know how the Colonel came by his title.

"Well, you see," explained the Colonel, in a soft voice, "that title in front of my name is like the 'Honorable' in front of yours; it doesn't mean a thing."

Politics With Color

(The opinions expressed in this column are the writer's own, and do not necessarily reflect the views or policy of this newspaper.—Editor's Note.)

Republican Club Banquet

Last week's column was written just prior to the annual meeting and banquet of the Republican Club of Massachusetts, at the Copley Plaza. Despite the huge attendance, the presence of a great many distinguished G. O. P. leaders and the general excellence of the speaking program, the Boston press, with the single exception of the Monitor, chose to play up the unfortunate illness of that courageous Republican Lt. Governor, Robert F. Bradford, who was obliged to suspend the final paragraphs of his dynamic address for a very few minutes. The point is that he insisted on finishing his prepared address, despite the urging of those at the head table and the vast majority of those on the banquet floor. Never have I seen such an exhibition of bulldog courage. He literally plowed his way back to the microphone, reminding me of a full-back crashing into the line for a touchdown in the last second of play. Perhaps it was not wise to do this, as the man has been driving himself to the limit for over a year now, traveling the length and breadth of the state and making hundreds upon hundreds of speeches. Why, you ask? Well, there are many reasons, including the fact that the $19,000,000 surplus built up by former Governor Saltonstall has practically vanished. Some of this sum, to be sure, has gone into worth-while projects, such as hospital improvements, but even the present Governor's most partisan followers can scarcely claim that ALL of this vast sum has been usefully spent. Other important matters, such as the attempted Readville dog-track and the refusal of the current administration to allow the Elevated to provide 25 cent fares to the East Boston airport, just because some friends of the Governor's want to furnish 75 cent service, are among the reasons why the Lt. Governor has felt it incumbent on him to tell the voters throughout the state about the shenanigans at the State House.

Finally, may I say that, in my opinion, Robert F. Bradford made a host of friends and well-wishers on Jan. 22. The ovation he received when he finished his speech was tremendous. From now on, however, he must use his strength more sparingly. We cannot afford to have him out of commission.

One of the interesting features of this meeting was the speech of young Bryant, the newly elected head of the Republican 21 organization. He made an excellent impression and looked like the type of two-fisted scrapper who would thrive on strenuous campaigning. Many of those present wondered why the G. O.

The End of a Journey

(Atomized)

Is this to be my end... can this be just,
That my steel hull be blown to atom dust,
I, who broke the Nippon lust
For conquest?

To be engulfed beneath some man-made tide,
Where on my decks so many heroes died,
And sailor voices spoke my name with pride,
Now this last agony.

Did man not promise this would be the last,
The day of useless slaughter now is past?
Yet I must disappear before the atom's blast,
Into oblivion.

Yet while my fighting form will disappear,
Again is kept alive the endless fear,
That mankind's end draws ever near,
God grant us His mercy!

Strike Situation

The Ford settlement with its employees may be more important than appears on the surface. Especially significant is the recent inclusion of thousands of white-collar workers in the new agreement. Two things may happen as a result of these vital negotiations. First, it is more than likely that some of the other major labor difficulties will be solved, using the Ford formula as the basis. Secondly, it is possible that other industries may decide to do something for their white-collar workers. And why not? These are the unfortunate people who have been caught in the middle for a long, long time. Union pay-rises do not affect them, but they are just as hard hit by the rise in the cost of living. Perhaps my readers may remember a column I wrote a few months ago about the attempt to organize these millions of white-collar sufferers. If anybody is interested, just drop me a line and I will be glad to furnish further information.

G.O.P. State Ticket

Just a suggestion that my readers watch the maneuverings of one or two gentlemen who would like to be State Treasurer. I am not sure whether or not it is a new wrinkle, but one frequent candidate for office sent out Christmas cards last month to hundreds and, for all the writer knows, to thousands of voters who are not personally acquainted with the man in question. Perhaps it is quite proper, but some of us do not like to see Christmas used as a political weapon. Curiously enough, the sender is a mighty fine citizen with an excellent record.

Newton Lions Club

Joseph Earl Perry, President of the Newton Savings Bank, was introduced as the guest speaker at the Newton Lions Club by Ralph S. E. Sanguinetti, past president of the club. Mr. Perry spoke very optimistically of the future and said that he believed we could well be at the threshold of a Century of Peace. He said he arrived at his conclusions because of the following: 1st, we have just concluded victoriously the greatest war the world has ever known; 2nd, because we are entering on the atomic age; 3rd, because we are beginning an era of world organization; 4th, because we have an opportunity to build for peace.

In discussing these four major premises Mr. Perry related that their importance could be seen if we realized that the countries known as the major aggressors have been relegated to such impotence that they can be ruled out as aggressors for at least twenty-five years, and that during this quarter of a century we have the opportunity of setting up and building an organization for permanent peace, which could well carry on for another hundred years.

Because of the consequences of the atomic bomb man must learn, and will learn, to master the art of living with other men, and then will come about peace on earth and good will to man.

At the conclusion of the speaker's talk Roland Norwood of Norwood & Jurd was presented for membership by Herb Dunn and he was inducted by King Lion Asa Blakeslee who presided.

Hazen Edgar who had worked very hard for the United Clothing Drive and who donated the use of one of his trucks was thanked by the King Lion for his splendid cooperation which should be an example for all.

At the previous meeting Charles Richter gave an interesting talk on the Newton Community Council describing the various agencies and their functions, and of their importance to the city.

Scouts—

N. Howe, Sr., visited the Patrol Cabins continually during the two-day Camp.

The Camporee program included a Campfire Saturday night when the Scouts and Scouters gathered to sing Campfire songs, participate in contests and listen to Campfire tales. Scoutmaster John Starkweather of Troop 15 conducted the Campfire. The high light of the Campfire was the appearance of four returned Servicemen — Norumbega Scouts before the war—Don Fifield, Oliver Lathrop, Chester Sims and Norman Midgley—who stood by the fire and related to the assembled Scouts their experiences during the war, pointing out the advantages they had received from Scout training.

Mass for Scouts of Catholic Faith was conducted Sunday morning by the Rev. Martin Dolphin, Norumbega Chaplain for Scouts of Catholic Faith. The Rev. Robert W. Woodroffe, Jr., Rector of Grace Episcopal Church, Newton, conducted the Scouts Own Service later in the morning.

The Legion Cabin, Assembly Building at the Reservation, was recently enlarged to accommodate double the number of men and boys—at the same time a new bunk house was added to the Cabin. These alterations were made possible by a gift from the Robert Magee Fund for Boy Scouts of Massachusetts.

The Winter Camporee marked the first use of the building since alteration was made. During the weekend, Camping Chairman Albert C. Blunt presented a plaque bearing Mr. Magee's name, to Scout Commissioner F. B. Kennedy, who placed the plaque on the wall of room.

Chief Judge Walter Howe was assisted by James Blackall, Assistant Judge, Scoutmaster Harold Amidon, Recorder, and the following Scouters: Alan MacIntire, David Bratton, Don Fifield, Walter Chase, Chester Sims, William Sohner, Henry White, Richard Means, George Larsen, Peter Beckwith, Robert Moir, Allan Lathrop, Norman Midgley, Lawrence Robinson, Herbert Downs, and Robert Tuthill.

Meals for the Judges Staff were served by "Cook" Sam Allison, and "Cookies" Bert Fernald, Richard Pierce and Bert Blunt.

Chief Judge Howe announces the following results of the Camporee: 1st place—The Pine Tree Patrol 22, Patrol Leader, Fred J. Fawcett—George Larsen, Scoutmaster; 2nd place—The Polar Bear Patrol of Troop 4B, Patrol Leader, J. Moller—Richard F. Schroeder, Scoutmaster; 3rd place—Eagle Patrol of Troop 16, Patrol Leader, W. Bradford Chase—Walter B. Chase, Scoutmaster; 4th place—Tiger Patrol of Troop 21, Patrol Leader, Leonard Brown—James P. Reynolds, Scoutmaster. Pine Tree Patrol was the sole "A" Patrol; Troops 4B, 16, 21 were "B" Patrols; and Troops 5, 6, 15, 19, 21 were judged to be "C" Patrols.

Hospital—

The Nursing Arts Laboratory, it was explained by Mr. Leonard, will be the very center of all teaching facilities in the expanded School of Nursing. Tentatively located on the remodeled ground floor of the present nurses' home, and occupying approximately half of its east wing, the laboratory will afford student nurses the means of learning the modern nursing care of patients through practical experience.

Mr. Leonard characterized the proposed gift as "particularly fitting," and said that it indicated a sincere desire on the part of the nurses to benefit generations of future students. "The proposed memorial," he added, "is a splendid evidence of the affection felt by the hospital's nursing graduates for the school in which they receive their training."

In a tribute to the hospital's graduate nurses, Clifford H. Walker, president of the hospital's board of trustees, said that Newton-Wellesley Hospital has long been proud of the outstanding reputation of its School of Nursing. He pointed out that the school was founded in 1888 when only a few other hospitals in the entire nation had ventured into this new educational field.

"The Newton-Wellesley Hospital School of Nursing," Mr. Walker said, "has pioneered in the development of the high standards which characterize the profession of nursing today. Its graduates serve not only in this area and this State, but have carried the high standards of their calling to all parts of the nation and to combat areas overseas whenever the needs of their country required it. We are proud that the ties of sentiment and loyalty which bind them to their alma mater are finding such appropriate expression in the greater hospital which is soon to serve this community."

Miss Hastings heads a committee chosen by the Alumnae Association to carry on the plans for the memorial. Other members of the committee include Miss Charlotte Howard, R.N., Mrs. Henry Keever, R.N., and Miss Gertrude O'Brien, R.N.

THE ELECTROCARDIOGRAPH at Newton-Wellesley Hospital makes four records of heart action from leads placed at different points on the patient's body in the course of one test. This record was taken from a patient suffering from hypertension.

Electrocardiogram—

trodes are placed on the skin in certain patterns, the picture on the film is clear. Accordingly, the cardiologists (heart specialists) have agreed to a "standard pattern" of electrode positions, which are referred to by numbers, such as Lead I, etc.

When the heart beats, the various parts of the heart muscle produce electricity at slightly different times. Each bit of electricity produced will make the "string" in the electrocardiograph jump. Consequently while the heart is going through each cycle of beat and rest, beat and rest, the "string" dances accordingly. The shadow of the dancing "string" is recorded on the moving film and produces a characteristic pattern, which varies slightly from one "lead" to another.

This much has been easy. The difficult part is the interpretation of the picture, and this is the part that needs the skill and experience of a doctor who has studied many electrocardiograms. The doctor must decide whether the shadows of the wire on the film appear with the usual sequence, size and timing or whether they are abnormal. If the shadows are abnormal, what is wrong? Do they appear irregularly or too rapidly? Do they stretch out over too long a time interval? Are they larger or smaller than they should be? Or do they go the wrong way at the right time? Having determined what is abnormal in the picture, the doctor can call on his past experience and that of his predecessors and make a diagnosis, as each type of heart disease produces a characteristic change in the electrocardiogram.

In addition to helping the physician make a definite diagnosis, the electrocardiogram helps the doctor to determine the efficiency of his treatment. Often the electrocardiogram will show that the heart is better and the treatment is having an effect before the patient notices any improvement.

Thus repeated electrocardiograms are often of more value to the patient and his physician than a single one.

It should be emphasized that while the electrocardiogram is a valuable aid to the physician, it cannot be expected to be more than that. For a complete understanding of his patient's heart, the physician must use his eyes, ears and fingers, the sphygmomanometer (blood pressure machine), the electrocardiogram and the roentgenogram (x-ray), and last but not least his powers of deductive reasoning.

A room for electrocardiographic examinations is planned as one of the features of the new laboratory department which is part of the $2,250,000 expansion program of Newton-Wellesley Hospital. The enlargement of this important department will help make it possible for the hospital to fulfill its obligation of better hospital service to more people in the Newtons, Wellesley and surrounding communities.

Two violinists of the Boston Symphony Orchestra play in the High Pines Orchestra, purely for recreation, one playing 'cello; the other, French horn.

What!

No Electric Range?

Women have endured a lot of kitchen inconveniences in the past but the smart homemaker of 1946 who wants the most convenient method of cooking is now planning on a modern ELECTRIC range. Here's why:

ELECTRIC COOKING IS CLEAN: because it's sootless. Pans stay bright. Walls, windows and curtains stay clean.

SAFE: An electric range is as safe as an electric light. The insulated oven keeps the exterior cool.

ECONOMICAL: Heat is accurately measured and controlled by the switch—and you cook with "stored" heat a large percentage of the time.

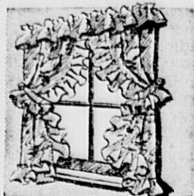

AUTOMATIC: Many electric ranges have automatic timing devices so that meals can be perfectly cooked in your absence.

There's an electrical future ahead... and BOSTON EDISON wants to help you make the most of it

ON THE INSIDE

by MARVIN GOULD

In an exclusive interview granted to your reporter, Louis Chester, president of the Mohawks club of Newton, Brookline, and Brighton, announced that, that organization would hold its annual dance April 13. As yet no band or hotel has been selected by the dance committee.

It is about time that someone said something about the un-sung members of Newton School Department's unofficial publicity staff. I mean the boys who work in the Trade School Print Shop under the expert supervision of Mr. Boulder. These boys often stay after school to print programs and flyers advertising Newton School Productions, Programs for football games, baseball games, plays, and various other school activities. The question that yours truly would like to ask is why aren't these boys given more credit for the excellent job that they have done in helping make Newton School productions a success?

Phil Mansfield, who did so much in making the Newton Student Canteen a success when it first opened last year is now in the U. S. Armed forces overseas. . . Bob Garrity, president of the N.H.S. Class of 1945, is now stationed in California at an advanced paratroopers school. . . Jack Vassolotti is now a section leader in the mess hall at Paris Island. . . Anthony Sonsini, of football and hockey fame, is now home on fifteen days leave from Fort Knox, Kentucky.

What has happened to the Class Reunion bill that was pending before the Executive Committee of the Senior Class?

ATTENTION N.H.S. faculty members in a poll of the students conducted by the Newtonite the official paper of your High School, it was proved beyond a shadow of a doubt that most of the students were in favor of the passage of this bill. Why then is this bill not passed? I wonder.

Starting next week this reporter is going to use one paragraph of each week's column to give a short summary of the life of N.H.S. outstanding faculty members.

League of Women Voters Plans Ambitious Program

In preparation for their financial campaign in February, the Newton League of Women Voters is holding its first strategy meeting this week. Because of a sharp increase in membership and in activity the League has felt the need of a more ambitious budget to carry out their program locally and to support the parent organizations. Their plans, as a member of the Newton Community Council, are being formed upon the basis of their value to the community. Through questionnaires and reports from candidates, the League is a source of non-partisan, pre-election information and works assiduously for adult education in government.

Heading the campaign is Mrs. John MacNeil, with Mrs. Earl B. Millard and Miss Adelaide B. Ball as advisors. Members of the working committee are Mrs. John H. Kavanagh, Mrs. Melvin H. Dangel, Mrs. Stuart H. Holmes, Mrs. Herbert C. Bronson, and Mrs. Louis J. Hunter. Mrs. James H. Lewis is in charge of the solicitors.

Bertha Damon To Address Waban Group

From one end of the country to the other audiences have laughed over Mrs. Damon's humorous and provocative reminiscences of her childhood in a staid Connecticut village. Now they delight in hearing her describe her struggle with the soil of a rocky but beloved New Hampshire farm. This lecture, entitled "A Sense of Humor," will be presented to the Waban Woman's Club on Monday afternoon, February 4th, in the neighborhood clubhouse. It is Bertha Damon's inimitable view of country living—part personal experience, part history, legend and literature.

In conjunction with the program of the day, the antique committee will display a superb table with china, linen and silver as used a hundred years ago. This exhibit will be in the reception room of the neighborhood club.

Following the lecture tea will be served, and the pourers will be Mrs. Raymond W. Blaisdell and Mrs. Thomas E. Shirley.

Newton Centre Woman's Club

The regular monthly meeting of the Newton Centre Woman's Club will be held Friday afternoon, February 8. The coffee and social hour at 1:30 and the business meeting at 2:30 will be followed by the speaker, Bertha Damon.

Mrs. Damon, author of "Grandma Called It Carnal," and "A Sense of Humor" is one of the country's most delightful writers. "Grandma Called It Carnal," her first book, resulted in a phenomenal sale. She explains that she never got around to writing before because she was "too busy living."

After graduation from Pembroke College of Brown University where she won a Phi Beta Kappa key and the star roles in several undergraduate dramatic productions, Mrs. Damon taught school. She then married and moved to California. While in Berkeley she organized poetry circles and for a brief time taught poetry. Gardening and remodeling old houses have been, however, her real hobbies.

Mrs. Damon was born and raised in Connecticut, and is descended from a long line of New Englanders. In "Grandma Calls It Carnal" she amusingly describes the manner in which she was reared and the spirit of the New England villages of her grandmother's time. Her second book, "A Sense of Humor," will be the subject of her talk at the Club.

Rotary Club

Harold W. Robinson who recently returned from China where he served for thirty years on the American Board of Missions, was the speaker at the meeting of the Newton Rotary Club held at the Brae Burn Country Club on Friday.

Mr. Robinson traced the history of China from the outbreak of the Civil War. Discussing late developments, he said "The Russians and Nationalist government have signed a treaty and are co-operating in Manchuria, running the railroads and having Port Arthur as a free port, although China thinks the Russians are aiding the Communists."

The news from North China, he said, is more encouraging since the treaty was signed, and he feels that the U. S. Government has taken a very wise attitude in the matter of China by saying that if they want our help they must first unite. The Government also made a very happy choice in General Marshall as Ambassador to China. There has been a very encouraging reaction among the Chinese people because they realize his importance in world affairs and feel more or less flattered to have such a first-class person assigned to their country.

The speaker believes China can settle their chaos by discussion, argument, and agreement rather than by warfare. There will be outbreaks and chaos, uprisings, because the Communists are die-hard, and unless they are given some voice in the Government of China there will be constant upheaval and chaos. China is far from a true democracy in our American sense, 90 percent of the people can't read, and it is impossible to have a democracy with such a percentage of illiteracy, but he feels with a Nationalist Government, China is moving toward a Democracy. The Chinese look to the U. S. for leadership and help, and think we are "ding-how" which means in English, A-I. They trust and believe in us, which is a challenge to our friendliness.

Visiting Rotarians and guests at this meeting were Doc Ten Brook and Ed Essen of Boston; Howard Wyrick, Waltham; Vic Hubert, Mansfield. Other guests were the Rev. H. D. Hawver with Denty Nutter, Albert Kroder with Joe Limric; Andrew Dorsey with Jack Laprise.

The speaker at the next meeting will be Ray Green, principal of the Newton High School, a member of and former president of the Newton Kiwanis Club. His extremely interesting subject will be "The Problem of the High School Graduate."

Newton Rotary recently received a letter from the New England Peabody Home expressing their gratitude for two crates of oranges recently sent to the Home, also expressing appreciation of the interest which members of the Rotary Club have shown in the Home.

Kiwanis 31st Birthday Observed By Newton Club

The 31st birthday of Kiwanis was observed by the Kiwanis Club of Newton at their meeting held in the Newton Y. M. C. A. building last Thursday.

Everett F. Pernhorn, lieutenant governor of the Fifth Division of New England, who spoke on "Kiwanis Anniversary" was introduced by past International Trustee James P. Gallagher. Mr. Pernhorn said in part:

"The birthday of Kiwanis is celebrated on January 21, because on that date, in 1915, the Detroit Kiwanis Club received its charter from the state of Michigan."

"The motto of the original group of Kiwanians was 'We Trade,' indicating that the club was composed of tradesmen and merchants, and suggesting possible mutual commercial advantage from membership. But following a reorganization which began at the Providence convention in 1918 and culminated at the Birmingham convention in 1919, the slogan, 'We Trade,' was summarily dropped and our present watchword, 'We Build,' substituted. This improved motto, typical of the new spirit of Kiwanis, was adopted at the Portland, Oregon, convention in 1920."

"Considerable thought was given to the selection of a name for the new organization. C. M. Burton, historian for the City of Detroit and the State of Michigan, was consulted, and after some research submitted several Indian names, among which was the word 'Kee-wan-is.' This had been found in an Indian vocabulary compiled by Bishop Frederick Baraga, pioneer of Upper Michigan, and its derived meanings were, 'To make one's self known,' 'To impress one's self,' 'Mr. Burton changed the original spelling to read 'Kiwanis' and this was adopted by the club as its official name in January, 1915. Kiwanis is, therefore, a coined name, but its verbal ancestry suggests self expression. Its practical significance in each community becomes just what the Kiwanis club makes the name mean, as, by actual accomplishment, it invests the word with the prestige of worth."

"Today there are over 2,300 clubs with a membership in excess of 153,000 throughout the United States and Canada, with action programs as follows: Boys and girls work, business standards, classified membership, club programs, extension of in-terclub relations, Kiwanis education, business services, public affairs, public relations, youth organizations, support of churches and their children and vocational guidance, spiritual aims, underprivileged all of which will assist in creating a world of peace and opportunity."

"The New England District for 1945 is in fourth place, nationally, and the Fifth Division is outstanding in its accomplishments which are rated by a grading system."

John A. Janse and Fred Moore, Jr., presented musical numbers in observance of the anniversary. Walter J. Finlay was presented with a 12 year perfect attendance pin and James B. Riggs with a three year attendance pin. The presentations being made by Dr. Ernest A. Marcoux.

Richard Artesani of Newton was a guest of the club at this meeting. Immediate Past President Benjamin F. Louis reported that 60,000 pounds of clothing had been collected in Newton for the Victory Clothing Collection. Kiwanians who assisted were J. W. Cable, Walter A. Hood, Raymond A. Green, Clarence J. PRODUCTION OUTLOOK AT A GLANCE

Tire manufacturers have been unable to fill the great need for new passenger car tires, in case we do not have the right size tire for your car, we should be able to get it soon. Come in for full information.

HERE'S WHY you'll want the B. F. Goodrich Silvertown

OUTWEARS PREWAR TIRES!

It has been proved. More than 2,000 tests and nearly 17,000,000 miles of the toughest kind of road service showed that this new B. F. Goodrich Silvertown will Outwear Prewar natural rubber tires.

New, better rubber. B. F. Goodrich has developed a rubber that's far better than ordinary synthetics. It helps the new Silvertown wear better and run cooler. It has greater resistance to cracking—and actually stands bruising and damage from accidents better.

Tire body 35% stronger. An entirely new, stronger cord is used, more of these cords are used in the top ply, an extra shock-absorbing breaker strip is included. The result: a body that is 35% stronger for additional resistance to bruises, extra blowout protection.

Flatter tread covers more ground. Called the "road level" tread, it puts more rubber on the road, permits all the tread to share the wear. Result: a further increase in mileage, less scuffing, better distribution of weight, better traction, more safety on the turns.

Plus 3 years' EXTRA experience. Three years before any other manufacturer, B. F. Goodrich sold tires containing synthetic rubber to American car owners. The extra know-how piled up in these years is reflected in the new B. F. Goodrich Silvertown.

Harvey Resigns As City Engineer

Had Served in Engineering
Dept. for 56 Years

In a letter to Mayor Goddard dated January 21, 1946 Ernest H. Harvey, City Engineer, tendered his resignation because of ill health.

Harvey's letter and Mayor Goddard's reply follows:

18 Rowe Street
Auburndale, Mass.
Jan. 21, 1946.

Hon. Paul M. Goddard
Mayor of the City of Newton
Dear Sir:

It is with much regret that I write you requesting that my connection with the Engineering Department of the City of Newton be terminated with the expiration of my present term of office as City Engineer next Friday, January 25, 1946.

As you know, I have recently suffered a setback having the elements of permanent physical disability, by reason of which I am strongly advised by my physician to retire from active service; hence this request that I shall not be considered for re-appointment.

This will end a period of continuous employment in the Newton Engineering Department, where I have been privileged to serve for fifty six years, and I feel doubly regretful having to take such a step at this particular time, when there is so much to be done in the department, and when I may not be of further service to you, Mr. Mayor, and to the City Government.

Very sincerely yours,
ERNEST H. HARVEY (signed)
City Engineer

Please accept my very best wishes and my personal thanks for the co-operation and help you have always given.

Cordially yours,
PAUL M. GODDARD (signed)

These contemplated changes are receiving the stimulating attention of the Building Committee of the Newton Council of Parent-Teacher Associations. The Building Committee of the Angier Parents Group of Waban include Mr. J. Dexter Harris, Chairman, Mr. Elbridge Wason, Secretary and Mr. William N. Davis.

Obviously an important objective of this meeting is to acquaint Waban residents with plans and purposes of the City, and to influence activities in such direction as they believe will be of greatest value to their children and to their community.

A question and answer period will follow the talk by Dr. Anderson and it is believed that the growing interest in these meetings will reach a new high on February 4th at 7:45 p. m. in the Angier School Auditorium.

Dining With Jane and Bill

Mary (Next-door neighbor)—Hmmm, such grand smells! I had to come over and see what was cooking.

Jane—Oh, I got a piece of bottom of the round so I'm making a pot roast.

Mary—Well, what's that colored liquid in the bottle that you are using?

Jane—That's left-over water from some vegetables I cooked yesterday.

Mary—Don't tell me that you're one of those people who saves cooking water from vegetables. I have heard people talk about it but I just never get around to it. Besides, I wouldn't know what to do with it after I saved it.

Jane—I don't have much around, mostly because I try to cook vegetables in as little water as possible, but I do save what I have. I use it in sauces just as I'm doing now in making the gravy for the pot roast. It really adds an extra bit of flavor and richness to the gravy. It seems sort of silly to use plain water to make gravy when I can use this liquid left from the vegetables.

Mary—Well, that's not a bad idea. I suppose I could do that. I always do feel a little guilty when I drain off any water from the string beans, peas, or greens. What else do you do with the water?

Jane—I make soup once in a while and I simmer the bone in whatever vegetable water I have around. I think those are the two easiest ways to use left-over cooking water. There are some of the minerals like iron, calcium, potassium, etc., as well as small amounts of some of the vitamins which are dissolved in the water when the vegetables are cooking, so I figure I may just as well save it and use it up for the family some way or other.

Mary—Well, I guess that's not a bad idea at all. I have a couple of quart-sized, screw-top jars hanging around and I guess I will put them to good use.

Newton Kiwanis Club

Nine members of the Jamaica Plain Kiwanis, including Lt. Gov. "Eve" Penhonor and President Jack Casey, who spoke on the Kiwanis Mid-Winter Conference, attended the Newton Kiwanis Club's noon meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Wednesday.

Mr. Richmond T. Terry, representing the American Airlines, told of the rapid progress being made in air transportation and predicted air speeds of ten thousand miles per hour in the not too distant future.

Boston and New England, Mr. Terry said, has always been foremost in aviation history. In the year 1910, he continued, Claude Graham White competed against a field of flying enthusiasts at that day at Squantum.

(Incidentally, Kiwanian Dr. Paul flew there at that time. The famous Lincoln Beachey was his pilot in one of the early planes. In those days the rugged gentry who took to the air sat out in the open, feet on a bar. The planes were not equipped with wheels, merely skids, somewhat similar to skis, on which to land.)

Mr. Terry said that when in 1926, the Colonial Air Transport began flying mail from Boston with none of the equipment and safety devices of today, a story of the believe it or not variety went the rounds. It concerned a pilot who after leaving Boston on his way to Hadley, ran into a fog over Providence and found the fog had enveloped Boston, too, so as to prevent his return. Nonplussed momentarily, he eventually recalled that a passenger had once smoked two cigars on the flight from Providence to the field. Reaching for his own cigars, he smoked the required number, threw the second butt outside and descending through the fog found himself directly over Hadley Field!

A remarkable experience, if hardly one for the books, but definitely indicative of the little with which they had to work in the old days and of the great advances made in the science of aviation during the past twenty years.

Miles no longer count, Mr. Terry added, time now is all that matters in as much as a jet propelled plane travelled from Los Angeles to New York recently, in four hours and thirteen minutes. The air is our only ocean, he concluded. Twelve thousand miles is but a matter of sixty hours by plane.

Kiwanian A. Bellinger lead the local club's two quintets in song. John Janse directed the group singing and filled the "March of Dimes" box, so's to assist in the obliteration of Polio.

A Kiwanis directors' meeting will be held at the Co-operative Bank next Monday evening at seven-thirty.

Next week Jim Walton, President of the Norumbega Council, Boy Scouts of America, will address the Newton Kiwanis Club on "Scouting and It's Relation to Service Clubs."

Mather Class

The Mather Class will meet at The First Baptist Church on January 27, at 9:45 a. m. Subject, Religion Today; Psychology and Applied Christianity.

Social Security Board Recommends Benefits for All Gainful Workers

$1,529,000 Paid in This Area Last Year to 19,280 Persons

Eleven specific recommendations for the expansion and improvement of the old-age and survivors insurance program have been made to Congress in the Tenth Annual Report of the Social Security Board, James T. Phelan, manager of the Cambridge office of the Board, reported today.

Heading the list is a recommendation, made repeatedly by the Board, that coverage of the program be expanded to include "all gainful workers, including agricultural and domestic employees, public employees and employees of non-profit organizations, and self-employed persons, including farmers."

Mr. Phelan said that "the social and economic welfare of the area served by the Cambridge office of the Board will be strengthened whenever action is taken to extend the benefits of the system to the millions that are not covered now."

"The Board has urged this action in the past, and now, in a period of increased job turnover, we are impressed more than ever by its urgency," Mr. Phelan continued. "Aside from the fact that the Board has had appeals from many persons and groups now in noncovered employment for inclusion in the system, we have seen how periods in noncovered employment, such as those spent by millions of our men in the armed service of the country, can affect qualifications for benefits."

"And, I am glad to say, the Board has recommended incidentally, for the fifth consecutive year—that credit be given to servicemen for their period of service in the armed forces."

Limitation of coverage is recognized by the Board as the most serious continuing shortcoming of old-age and survivors insurance, Mr. Phelan added. It is pointed out in the Annual Report of the Board that in an average week of 1944 only about three-fifths of all gainfully employed civilians were in jobs covered by the system, and more than 21,000,000 civilians and between 11,000,000 and 12,000,000 servicemen were excluded from it.

Recommendations of immediate importance to persons already covered by the Act include one for an increase in benefit amounts, particularly for low-paid workers, and one for an increase from $3,000 to $3,600 a year in the amount of earnings subject to contribution and benefits, Mr. Phelan pointed out.

"At the present levels, monthly benefit payments amounting to approximately $1,529,000 went to 19,280 men, women and children in this area last year," Mr. Phelan said.

"The adequacy of an insurance system must be judged by the extent to which its benefits, in conjunction with individual resources, provide a reasonable degree of security for the large majority of beneficiaries. The Board does not believe that the benefit provisions of the old-age and survivors insurance system conform with such a gauge of adequacy."

It also believes it is time for action that will permit aged workers in failing health, widows with children at home to be cared for, and other so-called marginal workers to leave the labor force," he added.

Three recommendations by the Social Security Board are for changes in provisions of the Act that experience has shown cause hardship to beneficiaries and potential recipients, Mr. Phelan said.

They are for a reduction of the qualifying age for all women beneficiaries to 60 years, from the present 65; deletion of the requirement of school attendance as a condition of receipt of benefits by children aged 16 and 17, and increase in the amount of earnings permitted a beneficiary without suspension of benefits, with a less severe penalty than at present for failure to report earnings in excess of the permitted amount.

Benefit payments now are suspended for any month in which the person on whose wages the benefits are based earns more than $14.99 in covered employment, and a sum equal to a month's benefit is assessed as a penalty for knowingly failing to report any such earnings.

In addition, the Board has recommended: Greater uniformity in defining, for purposes of the insurance system, family relations qualifying members of a worker's family for benefits.

Provision for ensuring uniformity in coverage decisions relating to liability for contributions and eligibility for benefits, which are based on identical language but are made by two separate Federal agencies—the Bureau of Internal Revenue and the Board.

Adoption of a long-range plan for financing old-age and survivors insurance, which looks toward an eventual three-way division of costs among employers, employees, and the Government.

Benefits during periods of extended or permanent disability like those for old-age retirement.

Two additional insurance provisions have been urged by the Board, Mr. Phelan said, to improve the health of the Nation and to compensate the worker for wages lost during periods of sickness or other disability.

Cash benefits to insured workers and their dependents during temporary disability (less than 6 months) and extended disability (6 months and over).

Insurance against costs of medical care, including payments to physicians and hospitals, with provision for decentralization of administration and possible utilization of State administration.

Mass. Blood Donor Mobile Unit in Newton During February

Mrs. C. Terry Collins, Chairman of Blood Donors for Newton Red Cross, today announced that the Massachusetts Blood Donor mobile unit will arrive at Newton for a visit of two days during February.

Newton will be one of the first communities in the State to participate in Massachusetts' new Civilian Blood Service. The donations of blood from their civic-minded citizens will entitle them to receive, in the future, not only an unreserved amount of blood plasma, but all the "fraction" of plasma developed by scientists during the war. These include the valuable new "fibrin foam" to stop bleeding, and the new "fibrin film" which promotes healing.

The new program, means that in case of disaster or emergency, Newton citizens, whether they personally have donated blood or not, will be entitled to receive blood plasma and blood products without charge from the banks in their local hospitals and health centers. No fee may be charged for the plasma, although there may be a small hospital service fee.

The mobile unit will be stationed at the Newton Red Cross Chapter House, 21 Foster street, Newtonville, February 19 from 10:45 to 4:45, and February 20 from 12:45 to 6:45. It is anticipated that many men and women will come direct from work on this latter date and donate their blood before going home. Appointments can be made by calling Lasell 6000.

The Budget House

PICTURE AND TEXT FROM BOOK OF HOMES
Published by The Co-operative Banks of Massachusetts

A small house can be artistically satisfying as well as economical. Using simple, simple materials can produce true individuality. Where dollars are scarce, it is a good idea to construct the house in three stages:

1. First floor and basement
 2. Add garage
 3. Add second floor rooms
- Stages 2 and 3 are purposely made so easy that the home-owner himself can frequently do this work. Yet when the house is completed it provides living accommodations for five people at a moderate cost.
